Island Home of Howard
Coffin Guarded by Fort
Screven Troops for Presidential Holiday.

Sapelo Island, Ga., December 26.—(AP)—In a setting of virgin forest, festooned with long streamers of gauzy Spanish moss, President and Mrs. Coolidge tonight settled down to a Christmas vacation at the island home of Howard E. Coffin. Traveling into a section of the country which he had visited but once before, the president detained early today at Brunswick, Ga., and after a journey of nearly five hours, partly by automobile and partly by yacht, arrived in mid-afternoon at his island destination.

At Brunswick crowds were waiting the arrival of the president and motor cars were ready for the first part of the trip from the city to the island. The route lay along the seashore and then by way of a long causeway to St. Simon Island and the Sea Island Yacht club.

There, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge greeted their distinguished guests. All posed for newspaper photographers and then boarded the Coffin yacht, a trim craft of 120 feet, which was moored near by.

On dock, Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Coffin chatted and laughed, while their husbands repaired with cigars to the stern of the vessel where they engaged in conversation until nearly lunch time. The run from the yacht club ordinarily takes nearly three hours, but in order that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge might have ample time for luncheon, which was served on board, the craft laced along until more than four hours were consumed. The course lay through labyrinthine passages between broad islands of marsh grass and bullrushes. At one point, the party passed close by the ruins of what at one time was known as one of the staunchest fortifications along the coast, an old fort dating back to the days of the early settlers, built by Oglethorpe who led the first English colonists into Georgia.

More automobiles were waiting at the dock on Sapelo Island for the remaining distance of more than two miles to the Coffin home, and the party motored through a woodland carpeted with pine needles and abounding in fat and oak, the latter in full leaf. Occasionally holly trees could be seen with their deep red berries showing vividly against the green leaves, to remind the party that the Christmas season was still at hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge hurried ahead and were on hand to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Coffin when they reached the house.

Tomorrow, Mr. Coolidge plans to rest at the Coffin home before undertaking any shooting or fishing, two recreations of which he is particularly fond.

On Sunday, the president is to dedicate what is to be known as the

Washington Leaders Are Busy Speculating on President-Elect's Plans for Farm Relief.

Washington, December 26.—(AP)—The decision of Herbert Hoover to return to Washington immediately from his South American tour today resulted in a prompt revival of interest upon Capitol Hill in the question of a special session of congress.

It is expected that the president-elect hardly will have reached the city before an attempt will be made to ascertain his views on this subject which has been a perplexing problem to congressional leaders since the incoming chief executive has made no public utterance on the question nor has anyone apparently been authorized to talk for him. Two things are uppermost in the congressional mind if an extra session is to be held—when and for the consideration of what subjects.

During the campaign Mr. Hoover promised an extra session to tackle the farm problem if it should not be disposed of this winter and a number of house members and senators are in favor of leaving the question to the Hoover administration to handle. On the other hand, there are some who insist the question can and should be settled between now and March 4, and in this connection Chairman McNary, of the senate agriculture committee, is prepared to go ahead with the farm relief bill now.

The Oregon senator already has introduced a measure which has incurred the administration support, and has given notice that he will endeavor to have his committee consider the proposal after the holiday recess.

Among the outstanding opponents to consideration of farm legislation at the short session is Senator Borah, of Idaho, a campaign worker of Hoover, who is bent on piloting the Kellogg treaty to renounce war through the senate to ratification. There is a feeling on the part of friends of the treaty that the consideration of such important legislation as farm relief might result in the peace pact being sidetracked.

It is expected at the capital that those who in all probability will give the president-elect a report on the congressional situation will include Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the republican senate leader; Speaker Longworth and Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, republican leader in the house.

All three are of the opinion that a farm relief bill should be put through this session if possible, but Tilson as well as Chairman Snell, of the house rules committee, does not see much chance of getting the measure through in the two months remaining.

In addition, a number of the farm leaders of both houses are insistent that the farm bill go over to an extra session so that it may be considered along with an adjustment of the tariff structure.

Largest Single Item of Expenditure Will Be for Erection of Six-Story
Building in Atlanta.

Outlining one of the largest programs in the history of telephonic development in the southeast, a budget of $30,000,000 was announced Wednesday by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company to be spent during 1929 on expansion of communication facilities in the nine states served by the company. The largest expenditure for any city during the year will be made in Atlanta, with more than $3,056,000 appropriated for this purpose.

Supported by the large Atlanta budget figure, the expenditures to be made for telephone facilities in Georgia during the ensuing year is the highest of the figure set for any of the nine southeastern states, although substantial sums have been allotted for each part of the company's territory which includes Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The largest single item of expenditure will be for construction of the six story Atlanta building to be erected on the corner of Ivy street and Auburn avenue, details of which were announced recently when the telephone company purchased the large downtown site. The total amount to be spent for buildings in Atlanta will be $1,300,000.

The 1929 budget represents $3,000,000 more than was appropriated for

Council of League of Nations
Gets Report on Paraguay-Bolivia Conciliation Efforts.

Geneva, December 26.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of France, as president of the council of the League of Nations, has sent a letter to members of the council outlining his efforts to peaceful settlement of the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay and the results.

The text was issued here tonight. After recapitulating telegrams exchanged with two states from Lugano, M. Briand says that he decided as a result to engage in a number of conversations to see how settlement of the conflict might be facilitated.

"On December 18 I asked the Bolivian and Paraguayan ministers, the Argentine charge d'affaires (whose government semi-officially was reported to be endeavoring to induce the two parties to accept mediation) and the charge d'affaires of the United States (whose government's representative was president of the Pan-American arbitration conference) to come to see me.

"In the course of my conversations with the Argentine and United States charge d'affaires, I explained the significance of the steps so far taken by the council and suggested that should the crisis be prolonged, it might try to coordinate the efforts being made from different quarters to preserve peace. I also received the representatives in Paris of the American states which are members of the council."

The letter then mentions further telegrams received from the states concerned, which removed the need for calling a special session of the league council.

BOLD BANDIT DUO
HOLD UP HAT SHOP

Robbers Get Only $47.75,
Manager Having Just
$800 Receipts in Bank.

Two daring bandits Wednesday afternoon held up and robbed the Wright Hat Shop, 55 Peachtree street, of all cash in the register, amounting to $47.75, escaping through a dense mid-afternoon crowd of shoppers. The bandits raided the store a few minutes after J. R. Smith, the manager, had departed for the bank. Their lateness in arriving cost them $800, holiday receipts which Smith had taken to the bank to deposit.

As in the robbery of the Hanover shoe store, 32 Marietta street, scarcely a hundred yards from the Wright store, the police are without definite clues to the holdup men. Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole said he had received a fair description of the two men who held up the Wright store and the lone bandit who robbed the Hanover shop. He believes that members of the same gang were responsible for both robberies.

Fired Blank Cartridges.
In the Wright robbery Thursday, T. H. Werr, clerk, alone in the store at the time and the victim of the robbers, fired several blank cartridges a few minutes after the bandits left his store. But this served only to notify passersby that the place had been raided.

Smith and Werr believe that the bandits knew the store's custom not to deposit the previous day's receipts in the bank until the afternoon and believe that the robbery was timed with a hope of obtaining the $800, netted from the late Christmas business rush the store enjoyed.

Werr said the two bandits, both young, unmasked and well dressed, entered the establishment a few minutes after Smith departed. They thrust into his face "a gun as big as a cannon," he said.

Silence Ordered.
"Keep your hands to your sides and your mouth shut," the bandits ordered, according to Werr. He complied.

While one of the bandits stood guard over Werr the second was reported to have moved to the cash register, which he had difficulty in opening.

"Bring that fellow up here," the bandit at the cash register ordered. "I can't open this thing."

A gun pressed to the small of his back, Werr was forced to open the door of the store, where he opened the register.

The bandits in departing warned Werr not to make any outcry, or they would shoot him. Chief of Detectives Poole immediately assigned members of the holdup squad to the case, ordering the arrest of all "known underworld characters."

Chief Poole also let it be known that he suspects the same gang sought in connection with the Hanover "job."

This gang, supposed to be centered in the near southwest section of the city, has been sought for the last week, the hunt beginning before the robbery of the Hanover store.

Prohibition Commissioner Says Mills' Plans for Prohibition Enforcement
Are All "Old Stuff."

Washington, December 26.—(AP)—Federal prohibition officials today expressed the opinion that the $25,000 prize-winning prohibition plan by Chester P. Mills was a good one, but that practically all of his suggestions now are a part of the dry law enforcement machinery.

James M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, said he regarded Mills' proposal as "merely an exchange of old stuff for new money," Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, declared he had no criticism to offer except that Mills' suggestions already were being carried out to a large extent.

Mills, a former prohibition administrator for the New York district, was awarded the $25,000 Duran prize for the best plan for enforcing the dry statute. Among other things his proposal advocated curbing diversion of industrial alcohol, suppressing independent denaturing plants, and a closer scrutiny of permits. He also urged that prohibition enforcement be taken out of politics.

Difference of Opinion.
At the time Mills left the prohibition service he charged it was due to politics, but Doran, the next day, said that this was not true.

Doran today said the major source of illicit liquor was not diversion of alcohol, but was in smuggling and illicit distilling from grain and corn sugar. Diversion, he said, almost had been eliminated.

"The writer of the plan," Doran continued, "bases his entire structure on a premise which is not only a minor enforcement problem at present but is rapidly becoming of even less importance. He speaks of conditions as he knew them in New York city alone, about two years ago and has evidently not kept up with the changed conditions."

In Routine Operation.
The commissioner said the every means suggested by Mills for controlling permit operations had been "in routine operation" for some time and that the trial permit proposal also had been in effect. It was only fair to observe, he added, that people who were operating on trial permits seldom violated the law.

Doran declared regional directors, already were responsible for the issuance of permits in their districts and that he believed that the operation of the civil service law under which the prohibition bureau has been placed, would eliminate to a large extent what Mills termed "political interference."

"The policy and plan of the prohibition bureau," he went on, "has always been and is at present predicated on striking at the sources of supply. I have been in hope that the contest would produce some vision that would be a helpful guide in the future operation of the bureau. The prize winning plan is merely an exchange of old stuff for new money."

New York, December 26.—(AP)—Malcolm D. Almack, of Palo Alto, Cal., author of the prohibition enforcement plan that won the $25,000 C. G. His plan, made public today by the prize committee, was characterized by

Byrd Carries U. S. Flag
100 Miles Nearer Pole

Far, Far Away From Human Dwelling

New York, December 26.—(AP)—Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd has sent the following wireless message to Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur through the New York Times, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and Associated newspapers.

"We have reached today the great mysterious ice barrier. It presents to us an ice cliff higher than the mast of the ship. On this Christmas day we are thankful and proud to report that we have been able to carry the American flag several hundred miles farther south than it has ever been, and it seems fitting that an airplane, that instrument of good will, should reach its farthest south on Christmas day.

"We are 2,400 statute miles from the nearest human dwelling in the only area in the world where a ship can get so far from civilization. That we are here safely is due to providence and my loyal and stout-hearted shipmates who have worked together unselfishly as a unit. It will probably be some days before we get ashore on account of ice that will be in Bay of Whales."

"BYRD."
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Commander Richard E. Byrd, head of an expedition to the "bottom of the world," is at the threshold of one of the greatest adventures of this adventurous century.

Before him lies the last geographical challenge to science—frigid, forbidding Antarctica, a continent of 5,000,000 square miles, which is so little known that even a large part of its glacier-fringed coast line must be mapped by guess.

Byrd commands a million-dollar expedition, equipped as few, if any, previous polar parties have been fitted out, and is prepared to spend two years, if necessary, in wrestling from the vast land of silence secrets that science long has wanted to know.

The party finds itself at the Bay of Whales—one of the gateways to the continent—virtually at midsummer, when conditions are most favorable for the flying which Byrd plans to do. Whether he will attempt an immediate aerial trip to the south pole is regarded as doubtful. It is believed, rather, that he will postpone his spectacular part of his program until the expedition has its second wind on the storm-swept tongue of ice that extends for an indefinite distance into the continental indentation known as Ross Sea.

On the South American side of Antarctica is Sir George Hubert Wilkins, himself an aviator of note, who also is known to be planning a polar flight. The two airmen have disavowed any intention of racing to the pole, previously visited by Amundsen and Scott after sledge journeys overland, but it is known that each would like to be the first man to reach it by air. Wilkins already has made at least one long antarctic flight from his base on Deception island, near the Weddell sea and hence finds himself with a good bit of south polar flying experience.

The Ross sea barrier and its Bay of Whales used by Amundsen as the base for his successful dash, offers small comfort, even in the summer season, to the explorers of the Byrd party. It is a vast cliff of ice, hundreds of miles long, the termination of the continental glacier that blankets probably the entire continent.

On its chilly, slippery surface the expedition will set up the base camp from which the exploring parties will set out on their trips into that almost mythical section of the continent known as King Edward VII Land, which borders the sea.

Plan for Conciliation Is Submitted to Governments of Paraguay and Bolivia.

Washington, December 26.—(AP)—A concrete plan, formulated by the Pan-American arbitration conference, establishing an international panel of nine judges to conciliate the Paraguayan-Bolivian boundary dispute today was before the Asuncion and La Paz governments for their approval.

Terms of Protocol.
The general terms of the mediation protocol were drafted by the conference's special committee charged with this duty after work had been received from both Bolivia and Paraguay as to the conditions under which they would be ready to have conciliation proceed.

The actual text of the protocol item was drawn up by Dr. Victor Maurtua, of Peru, chairman of the special committee, in collaboration with the Bolivian and Paraguayan delegates to the arbitration conference.

Bolivia and Paraguay would nominate two judges each on the conciliation court. Under the plan, the arbitration conference would appoint five more neutral ones. The arbitration conference then would turn over to the new body the settlement of the controversy. The conciliation court would

BERMUDA HOUSE
PROHIBITS DOCTORS TO OPERATE CARS

Hamilton, Bermuda, December 25.—(AP)—The Bermuda house of assembly has refused by a margin of one vote to allow physicians of the colony to operate automobiles. Permission would have about doubled the ten motor vehicles at the colony.

Opponents of the measure argued that it would have been an opening wedge that might result in so many other exemptions to the law against motor cars that the attractiveness of the island would be marred for the 40,000 tourists who visit each winter.

Use of automobiles on the island is prohibited under the motor act of 1905, but the department of public works is allowed to use a few trucks for moving road building material, the city of Hamilton is permitted motorized fire fighting equipment and street sprinklers and last year the King Edward Memorial hospital was granted leave to use a motor ambulance.

Highway Board Is Said To Be Practically With-

Present Time.

$7,000,000 IS DUE
ON OBLIGATIONS

When 1929 Funds Come in Surplus Will Barely Match Federal Aid, According to Reports.

The status of the state's highway board finances, and the problem of a continuation of a construction program through the coming year, have reached such a crisis that it is definitely reported around the capital that Governor Hardman will call an extra session of the legislature to convene early in 1929 to consider the crisis, and meet, if practicable, the emergency presented.

The situation, as alleged, is that, of the anticipated income of $10,000,000 next year from motor taxes and federal aid, for construction and maintenance, $7,000,000 has already been spent, represented by obligations due to banks, machinery supply interests, and individual contractors and contracting firms all over Georgia.

Obligations Pressed.
These obligations are being pressed, and the board is said not only to be practically without finances at the present time, but when the revenues begin to accrue with the January tag sales the indebtedness must first be met, thereby continuing the existing recess in new projects indefinitely.

As alleged, the surplus during the next year, after paying the board's debts—which are state obligations—will barely be sufficient to match federal aid, which is required under the provisions of the federal law.

In the meantime many bridges, and stretches of paving, here and there, which have been begun, and on which work has stopped, must remain uncompleted, it is said, and contracts already made, but on which work has not begun, must remain in the present deplorable condition unless the emergency is met in a sound and vigorous manner by the assembly.

Solons Alarmed, Is Report.
With the board's finances at such a low ebb, and its credit dissipated, the governor who has been giving the question serious consideration for some time, has taken it up with a large number of the members of both houses, and has found, it is understood, that the alarm among them at the stern possibility of a complete standstill in road development in 1929 is widespread and acute.

Governor Hardman, who is recuperating from an attack of influenza,

POLICE GET LEADS ON CARTERSVILLE FIREBUG

Man Responsible for Five Deaths Is Still at Large.

Cartersville, Ga., December 26.—(Special.)—Police here are expecting to make an arrest of the latter part of the week in connection with the firing of a Cartersville store stocked with fireworks Monday afternoon, and which resulted in the deaths of five persons and the serious injury of several others.

Several leads are being worked that may result in the apprehension of the man, unidentified so far, who deliberately ignited fireworks on a counter. According to witnesses, the man was intoxicated. He escaped in the excitement that followed the successive explosions in the store.

A complete description has been given police by C. Davis Shaw, operator of the store. Sheriff George W. Gaddis is investigating. What happened during the moments preceding the fire was told to police as follows:

Frances Shaw, daughter of Mr. Shaw, about 16 years old, a victim of the fire, was tending the front counter. She was the first to notice the man now sought.

"Daddy," she screamed, "that man is lighting the Roman candles."

Mr. Shaw dropped some parcels he was wrapping and rushed to the front of the store. He grappled with the man and ejected him from the store. He tried to re-enter but the door had closed and the lock had sprung. The interior of the store was ablaze and the children inside were screaming for help. Their efforts to reopen the door were in vain.

During this excitement the man, who deliberately started the blaze, made his way through a crowd and escaped.

Atlanta Veteran, Out of Hospital, Needs Job Badly

Tuesday, when the brightness of a Christmas sun was exceeded only by the glow that transformed 10,000 Atlanta homes, one of Father Atlanta's sons, less favored than the rest, walked the streets of his native town and thought on many things.

On the peculiarity of paternal ways he pondered and on the equally strange doings of his Uncle Sam. In his pocket was a letter—a long letter in which were many words but which said but one thing—"No." And that letter was his Christmas gift from the same Uncle Sam. It meant no compensation. Further, it meant no place to sleep and not any too much food. And he shivered under his not too new coat and tried to smile a bit and thought of the days of yore and tried not to think of the future.

Behind him lay more than a year and a half of days spent in government hospitals. Hospitals in Gulf Port, Miss., Lake City, Fla., Savannah and Memphis, Hospitals where, as he underwent treatment for the effects of his wartime injuries, he was given three "squares" each day and at night he slept on clean sheets as the guest of the government.

Then, only a few days ago, came dismissal from the hospital and then claims for compensation and at last that letter—his "Merry Christmas."

His job hunting became a frantic search as his emaciated frame grew even thinner. In his pocket, along with that fatal letter, were other letters showing that he had had education and no little experience as an accountant and bookkeeper.

So the search was still in progress late Wednesday night and still it had been fruitless. Even that warm Christmas sun was gone then and somehow that warm Yuletide glow had not yet been felt by him.

This man is Andrew J. Rooks, 27-year-old veteran and a call to Walnut 4131 will find its way to him quickly.

ROCKINGHAM MAN KILLED BY AUTO NEAR ALMA, GA.

Waycross, Ga., December 26.—(Special.)—James F. Perry, 44 years old, prominent farmer and merchant of Rockingham, was killed almost instantly and Chas. H. Bennett, also of Rockingham, was seriously injured, both of them having been struck by a hit-and-run driver on the outskirts of Alma, 30 miles north of Waycross, late Tuesday night.

The driver of the hit-and-run car was not identified, and officers have failed to follow any clue which will lead to his arrest, it was stated today.

The two men had stopped beside the road to repair an automobile tire. Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Bennett witnessed the tragedy.

Perry was a native of Dooly county, but had lived at Rockingham for some years, where he was engaged in the mercantile business. He also had extensive farming interests.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Misses Alba, Jessie Lee, Nora May and Ecklin Perry, all of Rockingham; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Perry, of Inverness, Fla.; either brothers, A. C. of Jacksonville; J. E. J. H. and W. W. of Alma; of Cordell, E. L. and L. H. of Bay; also two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Gamble, of Alma, and Mrs. Emma Gamble, of Columbus.

Funeral arrangements were not definitely announced today, pending the arrival of relatives from Florida.

2 YOUTHS KILLED WHEN MOTORCYCLE HITS TOURING CAR

Greenwood, S. C., December 26.—(Special.)—Yuley Selby, 15, and Kermit Rudd, 18, of Asheville, N. C., were killed instantly Christmas eve when the motorcycle they were riding collided with a light touring car driven by John E. Payne, of Greenwood.

The Greenwood-Hodges highway near here, Selby received a broken neck and Rudd a skull fracture. Payne suffered severe bruises.

Selby and Rudd were on their way to Sylva, Ga., to spend Christmas with Selby's mother, who is seriously ill. The body of Selby was sent to Sylva and that of Rudd to Holly Hill, S. C., for burial today.

COOLIDGE AT SAPELO FOR WINTER VACATION

Coolidge oak. The tree, which lifts its branches high above the ground, sprang originally as an offshoot of the oak tree from which were constructed the keel and beams of the historic old frigate Constitution.

Every precaution is being taken to insure the president and his family in this isolated position on Sapelo Island. Two companies from Fort Screven have been assigned to sentry duty around the shores of the island, while two coast guard cutters have been detailed to cruise constantly nearby throughout his stay here. In addition he is accompanied by his usual staff of secret service men.

Wild Cattle Rodeo.

A rodeo, in which the semi-wild cattle of the islands are to be ridden by native negro boys is planned for Mr. Coolidge's entertainment on Saturday afternoon. Originally he was to have dedicated the "Coolidge Oak" at that time, but the dedication was advanced to Sunday morning in order to permit his presence at the rodeo.

On Sunday morning, under plans announced tonight, Mr. Coolidge will attend church services at St. Simon's Episcopal church, standing on St. Simon's island at the place where Charles Wesley, is said to have preached his first sermon in America. After the dedication of the oak tree in the afternoon the president is to proceed to Mr. Coffin's game preserve on the nearby mainland, and spend Sunday night at the spacious hunting lodge located there.

HARDMAN SENDS OFFICIAL WELCOME.

Valdosta, Ga., December 26.—(P)—Governor L. G. Hardman, here for a holiday visit tonight sent President Coolidge at Sapelo Island, an official and cordial welcome to the state of Georgia.

The governor's message follows: "As governor of Georgia I extend to you and party a most cordial welcome to our state. We feel great honor to have you visit one of our most beautiful sections and it is with deep regret that I am prevented from welcoming you in person to Georgia, to our coastal section and to the beautiful Sapelo Island. We trust that this section of our state shall make such an appeal that you will be making frequent visits. May the coming year bring every happiness to you and Mrs. Coolidge and prosperity to your country. L. G. Hardman, governor."

GEORGIA HORN SENT PRESIDENT

Savannah, December 26.—(P)—The woods of Sapelo island may resound with the blast of a Georgia made hunting horn when President Coolidge tries his luck at deer shooting during his Christmas vacation at the island home of Howard E. Coffin.

Such a horn, and finished by Nat Hughes, of Stillmore, Ga., was forwarded to the president today as a gift from its maker. Hughes, an experienced hunter and sportsman, expressed the desire that the chief executive should have "the very best horn that could be made in this section of the country."

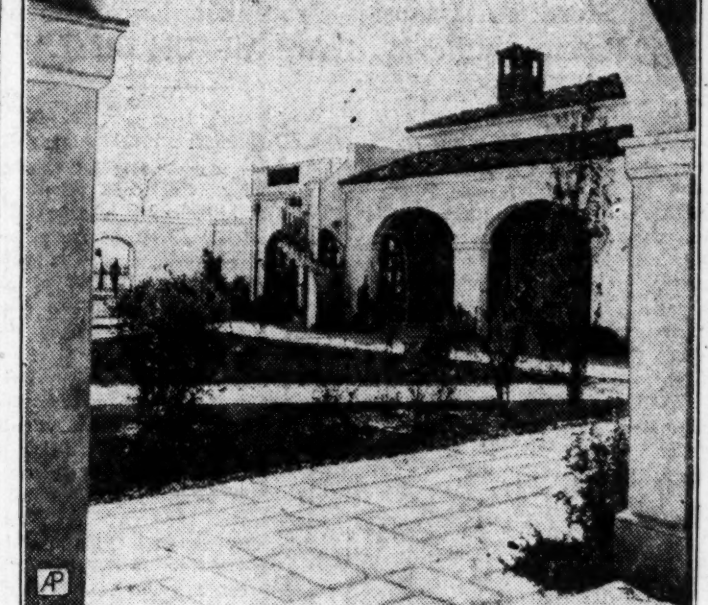

TWO CONVICTS DIE AS MINE ELEVATOR CABLE IS BROKEN

Sanford, N. C., December 26.—(P)—Two prisoners were killed and nine injured here today when a cable used in lifting a cage from the Carolina coal mine broke, hurling the men to the bottom of the shaft. Those killed and injured were state convicts who had been leased to the mine. Their names could not be learned early tonight.

Catarrh is Most Common Cause of Colds and Flu

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with chronic catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to common colds. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with normal breathing thus preventing proper oxygenation and purification of the blood by the lungs and also absolutely prevents, restful, refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to all germ infections such as colds, flu, pneumonia, etc.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it

T. SUFFERN TAILOR DIES NEW ORLEANS 'OASIS' ON VISIT TO BALTIMORE DECLARES 'DRY' AGENT

Baltimore, December 26.—(P)—T. Suffern Tailor, New York banker, internationally known sportsman and social leader died unexpectedly here yesterday after eating Christmas dinner at the home of his wife's parents.

Death was attributed to an attack of heart disease from which Mr. Tailor had suffered for several years. He was 61.

Active in the social life of New York and Newport for two decades, Mr. Tailor as a young man was a devotee of coaching, and tennis and in his later years a golf enthusiast. At one time he held an indoor tennis championship.

In 1922 he established a coaching record between Paris and Trouville, driving his famous coach which was a copy of the quicksilver royal coach of London and which he had christened "Herald" in honor of his friend James Gordon Bennett, who accompanied him on his record drive.

About eight years ago Mr. Tailor built the famous ocean links at Newport, a private golf course, and established the gold machine tournament which became an amateur golfing classic. His son is a golf star in his teens.

Business Mr. Tailor was senior member of the Tailor and company, investment bankers.

The son of an old American family, he was born at Newport and divided his time between there and New York. He was a graduate of Harvard university.

He was married twice, his first wife being Maude Lorillard, daughter of Pierre Lorillard, tobacco man. She obtained a divorce in 1902 and in 1909 he married Harriet Stewart Brown, daughter of Alexander Brown, of the banking house of Alexander Brown and sons, of this city.

MRS. OZBURN, 102, DIES AT LAWRENCEVILLE

Lawrenceville, Ga., December 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Ozburn, 102 years old, died Monday at the home of her son at Lawrenceville. She was born in Union county in 1826, and has been a widow for 50 years. She was a member of the Missionary Baptist church since childhood. She leaves the following children: William Ozburn, of LaGrange, Ga.; Jesse Ozburn, Mrs. Elizabeth Ozburn, of Grange, Ga.; Mrs. Mattie Hatfield, Montgomery, Ala.; and Ellen Walker, Lawrenceville, Ga.; twenty grand-children, ten great-grandchildren, and eight great-great-grandchildren. Funeral and interment took place at Covington, Ga., Wednesday. Her membership was at Rocky Creek church. She came here lately from Acworth, Ga.

COFFEE BODY BURNED, POLICE CLUE INDICATES

Mobile, Ala., December 26.—(P)—Evidence that the body of C. C. Coffee, aged 73, retired insurance man of Mobile, who disappeared while on a hunting trip in Clarke county November 12 and is believed to have been murdered, was burned at a spot near Hall's lake, has been secured by the Washington county authorities, according to a statement made today by Solicitor Joe Pelham, of that county.

The necktie worn by Coffee has been found where the body is alleged to have been burned, and also a piece of melted gold, believed to be a tooth filling, according to the solicitor. The arrest of Albert Bedwell, a white man of Calvert, on a charge of killing the aged Mobilean, was sensational developments today in the case, on which the officers have been working for six weeks.

Solicitor Pelham said the state had charged Bedwell with the murder of Coffee and that evidence tending to show that the negroes, arrested some time ago in connection with the case, reported the body, has been secured.

REPORTED FINDING OF GRAND CANYON LOST PAIR DENIED

Phoenix, Ariz., December 26.—(P)—A report late today that Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hyde, missing Colorado river adventurers, had been sighted below the mouth of Grand Canyon by pilots of a sightseeing canyon plane, tonight was declared by the returning pilots to have been erroneous. The pilots declared that the two persons seen by their pilots were believed to be the missing couple, who more than a month ago started in a homesteaded canyon to shoot the canyon rapids. When the touring airplane returned here tonight, however, the pilot reported that the two were not the Hydes, but members of one of the boat parties which have been searching the canyon depths for 12 days.

SCREEN COWBOY WILLS WIFE 'LOVE, AFFECTION'

Fred Thomson, Dead Wednesday, Explains Will Fulfills Wife's Wish.

Los Angeles, December 26.—(P)—Fred Thomson, 37, portrayed of western screen roles, who died here early today, left his widow only "my love and affection."

"I do this at her own request and in the belief that she is already provided with sufficient means for her care," he said in his will, which was filed for probate today. Mrs. Thomson, better known as Frances Marion, is a scenario writer.

Thomson's will provides that his estate shall be shared equally by his mother, Mrs. Clara F. Thomson, and his three-year-old son, Fred, Jr. The document said he believes his wife will provide for their adopted son, Richard Thomson, two years old.

NUMBER OF FLU CASES SHOW GAIN FOR WEEK

Washington, December 26.—(P)—The number of influenza cases throughout the country showed another increase today in reports received by the public health service from 25 states and the District of Columbia for the week ending December 22. Health officers estimated the total cases at 856,195, the highest yet reported. A week ago the estimated number in the same territory was 541,870.

It was emphasized that the total number of cases was an estimated figure only, and was computed on the basis of the existence of five cases for each one reported.

The public health officials believed that figures available today indicated that more than a million persons in the United States have influenza during the Christmas holidays.

Boys' Sweetheart Of Mark Twain Dies at Age of 91

Hannibal, Md., December 26.—(P)—Mrs. Laura Frazer, 91, Mark Twain's boyhood sweetheart and the "Roughing It" of "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer," died last night at the home of a son, Judge L. E. Frazer.

She was one of the last of a small group of local persons who attended school with the famous humorist when he was a barefooted boy who roamed through the hills about Hannibal.

Mrs. Frazer was the daughter of Elijah and Sophia Hawkins, who were among the earliest residents of this city. She lived in this locality nearly all her life, having come here at an early age from Kentucky. Her husband, Dr. James W. Frazer, died many years ago. Judge Frazer, president of the Hannibal Trust company, is her only surviving child.

DOUGLAS MAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Douglas, Ga., December 26.—(P)—John Yawn, 37 years old, Coffee county farmer, was killed instantly in an automobile accident at Rockingham, Ga., early yesterday. Yawn was accompanied by his wife and a friend at the time the accident occurred.

The party was riding without lights when they met another automobile also without lights. Yawn was sitting on the floor of the car with his feet on the running board at the time. As the driver of the car in which Yawn was driving swerved to avoid the approaching machine, Yawn was thrown out directly in front of the other automobile, which ran over him killing him instantly.

Besides his widow, Yawn is survived by one son, his father, John Yawn, and one brother, Calvin Yawn, of Douglas.

Mrs. Rosa Plumer.

Griffin, Ga., December 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Rosa Plumer, wife of Henry Plumer, of Fayette county, died at her home near here late Tuesday. She was conversing with friends and members of her family and was suddenly stricken, dying before medical aid could reach her. Heart failure was believed to be the cause of her death. Funeral arrangements will be announced upon the arrival of her sons from Michigan.

EARLY HISTORY OF GEORGIA ISLE RECALLED

Paradise. Now is the proper time for oyster roasts, and if the president does not delight in this supreme feast of the Georgia coast, then his physician should advise treatment for his appetite.

The Georgia coast is connected with the career of Lyman Hall, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, whose home was near historic Midway church in Liberty county, and with many famous battles of the revolution and the war between the states.

At Savannah, for instance, are markers telling of the heroism of Sergeant Jasper, who saved the flag at Charleston and later rescued some American soldiers from a British guard near Savannah, and of the courage of Count Pulaski, who died from a wound received in one of the engagements near Savannah. And at Fort Pulaski, overlooking the mouth of the Savannah river, the federal gunners tried the effect of the first rifled cannon of history upon the brick battlements with telling effect, during the war between the states.

Old plantations upon the Ogeechee river, purchased by Henry Ford several years ago, are within easy visiting distance of Sapelo island. These plantations were sacked by Sherman's soldiers on the conclusion of the famous march through Georgia, but several of the old houses escaped the federal torch, and still stand today.

Ralph Thomas Dies.

Tifton, Ga., December 26.—(P)—Ralph C. Thomas, tobacco disease specialist, at the Coastal Plain Experiment station, died from influenza in a hospital here Tuesday night.

He is survived by his father, W. E. Thomas, Grant, Va.; two brothers, Dr. D. E. Thomas, Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., and Wiley Thomas, Roanoke, Va.

CHICAGO PLANS DRIVE TO START BOYS RIGHT

$5,000,000 Campaign To Drive Out Juvenile Delinquency To Open.

Chicago, December 26.—(P)—A $5,000,000 campaign to stamp out juvenile delinquency by guiding the activities of boys in congested districts of the city was announced by the Chicago Boys' club.

The plan calls for erection of 25 Boys' Club buildings throughout the city, with gymnasiums, swimming pools, game rooms, libraries, art and handicraft divisions, and playgrounds. Each of the buildings will cost $200,000, and five will be erected each year for the next five years.

The Chicago Boys' club is supported by a group of prominent business men who donate time and funds to the organization. The club now supports three club buildings in different parts of the city, with a total enrollment of 4,000.

"There is no more profitable investment that business men and corporations can make than in the development of the city's boys into good citizens," George A. Hughes, president of the club, said.

Figures compiled by the organization show that very few of the boys now enrolled ever have trouble with the police. The club is non-racial and non-sectarian.

Star of Bethlehem Only Legend, Says Astrologists.

Paris, December 26.—(United News).—The three wise men of biblical history were led to the manger of the Christ child in Bethlehem by a comet, according to modern French astrology leaders.

The Star of Bethlehem never existed as a star outside of a legend, the astrologers contend. Many of the greatest French astrologers have puzzled over the luminary which, according to the Bible, first appeared to the shepherds 1,928 years ago.

BRIAN BELL'S FATHER
DIES AT AGE OF 69

York, S. C., December 26.—(P)—James B. Bell, of Gaffney, father of Brian Bell, Associated Press writer, died here suddenly last night at the home of a first cousin, James M. Bryan, with whom he had been visiting. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Bell's wife died several months ago. The funeral will be held here tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

QUELL OIL PLANT FIRE
IN ITS THIRD OUTBREAK

Loss $500,000, Two Killed,
Many Hurt in Blaze Near Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Pa., December 26.—(P)—The third outbreak of fire within 30 hours at the plant of the Carnegie Refining company at Heidelberg, near here, was brought under control tonight with the loss of a half million dollars, two deaths recorded and more than a score of firemen and others injured.

The blaze, discovered shortly before noon yesterday and which was believed extinguished about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, again broke out with a series of explosions shortly before last midnight and flared anew late today. Six fire companies battled four hours to put out the fire this afternoon.

The fatalities were the result of a plunge down a steep embankment of a fire truck of the Stowe township volunteer company. Adolph Sonnett, 30, and James Depero, 44, were fatally hurt and 15 others were injured, when the machine racing to the fire plunged from the Windgap road as the driver lost control in a dense fog. The father and Alfonso were shot instantly, but Joe lived long enough to make a statement to officers. Louis Arcos surrendered to authorities in connection with the shooting.

SUSPECT IN HOLDUP
OF BANK HURT
IN FALL FROM BUNK

Shreveport, La., December 26.—(P)—Charles E. Crews, 41, who said his mother lived at 7844 Rhodes avenue, Chicago, was brought here today by a city detective from Covington, Tenn., where he was arrested as a suspect in connection with the robbery of the Avenue branch of the City Savings bank.

His head was swathed in bandages for injuries received in a fall from his bunk in the Covington jail. Officers said the man has many innocent and meaningless statements and at one time exclaimed:

"I didn't do it, but I know who did."

He has both denied and admitted that he was in Shreveport at the time of the robbery. His automobile, identified as belonging to a refrigerator company in Mississippi where he was employed, was covered with mud and a revolver was found in his possession. He was arrested after he had told a woman that he had shot a man in Shreveport.

FLORIDA GOVERNOR
DENIES "BANKRUPT"
RUMOR FOR STATE

Tallahassee, Fla., December 26.—(P)—Governor Martin in a statement issued here today, characterized as false alleged "general propaganda" which he said had been circulated, that the Florida state government "is bankrupt."

The state treasury, he said, now holds $4,060,512.76, and $500,000 is owed. With that amount held in the state coffers, Florida "lacks a long way of being financially broke," he asserted.

Continued Fair
Weather Is Seen
By Weatherman

Continued fair skies with moderate rising temperatures is the outlook for Atlanta today, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, head of the local U. S. weather bureau. He states that a low pressure area is moving across Canada causing southerly winds in the vicinity which always bring warmer weather in their wake.

Wednesday's temperature jump was from a minimum of 38 up to a high point of 53, while today's range is expected to be from 40 up to approximately 60 as a maximum. Little change in prevailing conditions is anticipated, Mr. von Herrmann stated.

OF MILK RESULTS
IN DEATH OF 3

Hondo, Texas, December 26.—(P)—An argument over a quart of milk cost the lives of a father and his two sons here tonight.

L. Barrientes, a merchant, and his two sons, Joe and Alfonso, were shot to death in the father's store. Each was killed with bullets from a rifle. The father and Alfonso were shot instantly, but Joe lived long enough to make a statement to officers. Louis Arcos surrendered to authorities in connection with the shooting.

A charge of murder was sworn against Arcos after Sheriff J. F. Bader, of Medina county, has made an investigation. According to Bader, the shooting grew out of an argument over a quart of milk which Arcos said was spoiled and which Barrientes had refused to replace.

After the argument Arcos appealed to the sheriff to settle the dispute and was referred to the county attorney. A few minutes later, Bader said, Arcos walked into his office and surrendered a rifle. Following an inquest by Justice H. V. Harris, Arcos was held without bond.

NOT AFTER OFFICE,
SAYS MAN NAMED
AS CABINET TIMBER

Daytona Beach, Fla., December 26.—(P)—"I am not seeking any office," Franklin D. Bristley, of New Smyrna, former senior vice president and general manager of the Royal Baking Powder company, said today to a movement by friends and former business associates for his appointment as secretary of commerce in the Hoover cabinet.

Mr. Bristley said he is familiar with the movement, started by Henry Lohman, secretary of the United Retail Grocers' association and president of the Retail Grocers' Secretaries' association of the United States and said that should the appointment be offered, he would give it serious consideration.

CHURCH OF ST. MARKS

Venice, Italy, December 26.—(P)—Premier Mussolini will donate $500,000 lire (about $25,000) of government funds for the restoration of the famous church of St. Marks.

INTOXICATION ARRESTS
DOUBLE IN 7 YEARS

Moderation League Makes Public Figures in Its Report.

New York, December 26.—(P)—A survey by the moderation league, made public today, says that police records in 388 cities show that arrests for intoxication rose from 235,612 in 1920 to 477,303 in 1927.

The fourth annual report of the league, which has for its announced aim "the restoration of temperance," declares that the figures have brought the organization to the conclusion that "the Volstead act has failed utterly to do what it was intended to do, namely, promote temperance and sobriety."

Tables of total arrests by years in the 388 cities as compiled in the report indicate a decline in arrests for drunkenness beginning in 1914, when the figure stood at 530,307, to 257,612 in 1920, the year national prohibition went into effect. An exception to the decline is noted in 1919 with 559,364 arrests, which is explained in the league report as the result of the pre-war prosperity boom.

Beginning with 1921 the table shows rapid annual increases in the number of arrests from 319,528 to 557,303. The report declares that a marked increase in drinking by minors has been noted throughout the period. The increase in arrests for intoxication in New York city, the report says, has been at a slower rate than in other centers from which figures were drawn. Birmingham, Ala., and Atlanta, Ga., both show increases of 500 per cent for the period.

The figures, the report goes on, indicate a greater jump in states which were dry before national prohibition than in the so-called wet states. Police reports from 208 cities where liquor was sold legally prior to 1920 gave 424,205 arrests in 1914 as against 423,042 in 1927.

In 120 cities in states that had dry laws before the passage of the eighteenth amendment the league says the figures show an increase from 106,072 in 1914 to 134,327 in 1927.

NOTED PHYSICIAN
DIES IN ASHEVILLE
OF HEART DISEASE

Asheville, N. C., December 26.—(P)—Dr. Charles L. Minor, 63, one of the nation's most distinguished physicians, died at his home in Billmore Forest at 8 o'clock this morning. Dr. Minor specialized in the treatment of tuberculosis. His studies on the disease are regarded as classics in medical lore.

Dr. Minor's death was attributed to heart disease. He was believed in comparatively good health. A week ago he returned to Asheville to spend the Christmas holidays after visiting his children in New York and Washington.

Dr. Minor is survived by his widow, the former Miss Mary McDowell Venable, of Virginia, and three children: Dr. John Minor, Washington, D. C.; physician; Mrs. Faulstich Ball, of Columbia, S. C.; and Mrs. Paul Barringer, of Locust Valley, Long Island. A funeral service will be held at Trinity Episcopal church here at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The body will be sent to New York for burial in Greenwood cemetery.

FISHER CAUTIONS
AGAINST JUMPING
RAIL VALUATIONS

Washington, December 26.—(United News).—A warning to the nation's railroads that their fight for higher valuations as bases for rates might endanger the entire system of private ownership of transportation was made on behalf of the interstate commerce commission today.

Walter L. Fisher, former secretary of interior, now special counsel for the commission, made this declaration in a brief filed in United States supreme court on the O'Fallon rate case. This case, which is to be argued next Wednesday, is the third attempt of the railroads to obtain a supreme court decision overturning the commission's present valuation system. The two previous attempts were tossed out by the court without a decision on the merits of its system of evaluating railroad property for rate-making purposes.

FACING PADLOCK
WRITS, CAFE HEADS
TO LEAVE TAMPA

Tampa, Fla., December 26.—(P)—"Some of us will move to other towns; we will fight the cases in court."

That was the reply made today by representatives of 13 cafe owners here to federal authorities who Monday served notice of temporary injunctions forbidding the sale of liquor. The defendants have 20 days in which to file their answers, according to M. C. Hendrix, chief of the federal enforcement forces here. If they do not show sufficient reason why their establishments should not be padlocked, they will be closed for a year, he added.

Proceedings also were under way against a dozen more places in Tampa where liquor is alleged by federal agents to have been sold. Mr. Hendrix said. The injunctions were signed in Jacksonville Saturday by Judge W. I. Grubb, of Alabama, who has been presiding in federal court in the Florida city. The petitions were presented by J. A. Adair, a prohibition agent, and A. E. Anderson, a federal attorney.

LEWIS TO HEAD
I. C. COMMISSION
FOR YEAR 1929

Washington, December 26.—(P)—E. I. Lewis has been elected chairman of the interstate commerce commission to serve the year 1929. He succeeds Commissioner J. J. Campbell in the post, under the regular arrangement for rotation among the nine members. Commissioner Lewis was chairman of the Indiana public service commission when he was appointed to the commerce commission by President Wilson.

French Ex-Senator,
Bad Check Passer,
Is Found Sane

Paris, December 26.—(P)—Three government alienists who examined Louis Klotz, former senator who is accused of issuing checks without funds, reported today that he was not suffering any mental malady and was in full possession of his faculties. Klotz, who resigned from the senate after the accusation against him, probably will be transferred shortly from the sanatorium where he is now confined to the Sainte prison.

HERO OF 1883
DIES UNNOTICED

Braved Death in Line of Duty To Save Lives of Ten Persons.

Milwaukee, December 26.—(P)—Herman Strauss, 77, who played the hero in a fire of 1883 which cost the lives of 80 persons, died almost unnoticed at his home here Christmas eve. He was buried today. To an older generation of Milwaukeeans, the name revived memories of his heroism in the "80's."

Strauss, as he phrased it, "did his duty" in the Newhall House holocaust. He was a fireman and his rescue of 10 persons from the burning building was to him all in the line of duty.

The country, however, when told of his heroism in braving the flames of the worst fire in Wisconsin's history, thought differently. His own city presented him with medals. Detroit gave him a silver water cask. New York city raised a large fund for him.

Strauss' deed as the one bright spot of the tragedy. Seeing the trapped servant girls on the top floor, he carried a ladder to the alley, and swung it from the roof of a building across the alley to a window on the top floor of the Newhall house. Across this insecure bridge he carried or led to safety 10 women.

Milwaukee postmen in whose ranks he served for 38 years after retiring as a fireman had charge of his funeral today.

30 ALIENS SEIZED
IN FLORIDA WAIT
OCEAN VOYAGE

Jackville, Fla., December 26.—(P)—Thirty aliens, found in Florida, will do their New Year's resolution reflecting while en route home. They are to leave here tomorrow for Philadelphia, where they will be deported. Nine countries are represented in the parade.

Only one man offered any resistance when arrested by immigration officials. He was Alfred H. Wakomson, of Norway, who did not mind being taken into custody but objected strenuously when informed he was going back to Norway.

TELLS OF HELPING PAIR IN THEFTS

Big Springs, Texas, December 26.—(United News).—An eight-year-old boy, a woman and a man are being held here following the boy's story of how he looted cash drawers and safes while the man and woman engaged the clerks in business or conversation.

The lad also told in detail of how the two tutored him regarding the technique of doing their job. The trio was taken into custody following the arrest of the man while he was breaking into a barber shop. The boy said that they had robbed three stores last winter.

If I Was Sellin'
Clothes on CREDIT!

I, too, would be tellin' my troubles. Some folks think Metcalf's crazy for sellin' (all-wool) men's suits and overcoats for nine ninety-nine and fine, imported Scotch Fleece (fancy plaid back) woollens for fifteen fifty. That's what I'm doin'.

Christmas is over and "you all" been mighty good to me. The overcoats I got left now are all profit again now 'cause I already sold more than a thousand at a profit.

Some folks tell me that times are mighty hard and money is gettin' scarce, so I'm closin' out all my overcoats for less than the cloth cost. You get the makin' and trimmin' for nothin'. This makes it possible for the fellow who was goin' to do without, to have one now.

I admit I been in this here clothing business long enough to quit. I tell you "white folks" it's the joy of my life to be buyin' and sellin' clothing, 'cause I don't know nothin' else.

Yours truly,
JOHN A. METCALF,
74 and 76 North Forsyth St.

CAUTION—"FLU"

- (1) Keep away from Crowds.
- (2) Drink lots of water and eat only wholesome food.
- (3) Go to bed early with at least one window part open.
- (4) Keep your bowels open--BE SURE. The best intestinal cleanser is Adlerika. It acts in 1-2 to 2 hours on BOTH upper and lower bowel.

Adlerika often brings out poisons which you would never believe were in your system.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, well known bacteriologist of New York City, after testing Adlerika on living subjects, reports: "Adlerika very markedly reduces the number of bacteria and colon bacilli, in addition to its intestinal cleansing action."

Adlerika is today America's most efficient remedy for Gas on the Stomach, Chronic Constipation and Intestinal Stasis. It contains no aloes, calomel or senna, therefore acting without griping or discomfort of any kind.

Sold by leading druggists in tin-foiled bottles.

RADIOING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISER.

"Salut demeure Chatelet de Paris," the aria sung by Faust in the garden scene of Gounod's opera, "Faust," will be sung by James Melton as a feature of the Seiberling program at 8 o'clock tonight over WSB and a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C. system.

Under the direction of Frank Black, the Seiberling Singers offer "Oh, Lucindy," by Strickland, a negro spiritual, "De Gospel Train," and "Comin' Home."

The popular two-piano team of Ohman and Arden will be heard in a special transcription of "When You Were Sweet Sixteen" and the Seiberling Singing Violins offer the Spanish tune "La Paloma" by Yradier.

The complete program follows: Oh, Lucindy, Strickland; Salut demeure Chatelet de Paris, from "Faust," James Melton; When You Were Sweet Sixteen, Ohman and Arden; La Paloma, Yradier; Comin' Home, Seiberling Singers.

Lipsing star-eyed blondes may be the preference of gentlemen, but on the authority of Helen Dryden, one of America's foremost illustrators and fashion artists, herself a blonde, the most beautiful women are the tall, willowy brunettes. They can be more unusual and striking than their light or titian-haired sisters.

Expansion of this opinion and a number of others on the general theme of a woman's charm and beauty will be broadcast by Miss Dryden through KDKA and the N. B. C. system at 7 o'clock tonight, during the Lulu and Frank serenade.

Musical program on the feminine theme will also be included in the serenade. It will feature Jack Shilsky's novel orchestra, a special male quartet and instrumental soloists.

Miss Dryden, who will be the first woman artist to speak in these serenade broadcasts, which have featured prominent artists as Charles Dana Gibson, John Held, Jr., and Arthur William Brown, is regarded as one of the most interesting feminine personalities in the art world, and is a designer of stage settings and costumes, as well as of fashions and magazine covers.

Music played by one of the largest dance orchestras ever to have faced a microphone. Forty instrumentalists will be assembled under the direction of Freddie Rike to play straight dance tunes, "not jazz, but not symphony," as one of those hearing the audition phrased it.

As the first Studebaker Motors radio program brings to the listening audience an announcement of great importance, the theme song chosen for this broadcast is, appropriately enough, "Good News."

The following program will be played:

"Good News"—Theme song.

"I'm On the Crest of a Wave," "Cypar," "Hallelujah," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," "Don't Leave This World Alone," "That's How I Feel About You," "The Little Miles From Town," "My Inspiration Is You."

Stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System will broadcast this program: WABC, WFAN, WJAC, WJAZ, WJLB, WJMA, WKRP, WKX, WYLL, KYA, KMTR, KJR, KIZ, KGA.

The Sonora hour to be broadcast by stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System this evening at 8 o'clock will again feature Miss Ruth Brown, the popular singer, and her virtuoso, Allan Jones, a brilliant young singer who has already, at the age of 21, gained his place in the popular ranks of the nation.

The Sonora program lists Miss Brown's selections as "Hymn to the Sun" from "Coc d'Or" of Rimsky-Korsakov, in which she will be accompanied by the Sonora symphony orchestra, and "Tambourin Chinois" and "La Gitana," both compositions by Fritz Kreisler. In the last two Miss Brown will be assisted by the pianist, Walter Gole.

Mr. Jones has chosen for his selections "La Donna e Mobile" from the opera "Rigoletto" of Verdi, "Liebestraum" and Victor Herbert's well loved "I'm Falling in Love With Some One" from "Naughty Marietta." Jones will be assisted by the Sonora symphony orchestra.

A violin and tenor duet has been arranged for Miss Brown and Mr. Jones. "O Case Thy Singing, Maiden Fair," by Bachmann.

The program will be completed with selections by the symphony orchestra, the Mayfair House salon orchestra, the Flinders (a popular dance orchestra) and the Sonora male trio.

A reproduction of the dinner that Rossini gave to his clients at Pesaro will be the dramatic moment in the life of a great composer to be broadcast tonight at 9 o'clock through the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Pesaro, a little town on the Adriatic, was the birthplace of Rossini, and one of the greatest events in his history was the large dinner given to his friends and famous musicians attended it, including Wagner, Bellini, Donizetti and Spontini. As a special feature Rossini arranged to have the dining characters in his opera represented, and Cendrillon, Rosita and William Tell were all to be seen, and what is more, heard, singing the particular operatic roles.

This entire colorful scene will be reproduced and radio listeners will be able to picture this dramatic event as they listen to the fine music of that epoch.

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL NAME OFFICERS

Committees Will Be Appointed at Meeting Wednesday Afternoon.

Election of officers for 1929 and appointment of committees is scheduled for the board of education next Wednesday afternoon, according to George W. Powell, president of the board.

At another meeting of the board, subsequent to the organization session, the 1929 budget and the school financial report for 1928 will be considered. At this second meeting of the new year the board also will have on advertising for new bids for heating and plumbing jobs at the ten new schools, the low bid of the Loftis Heating and Plumbing company having been twice rejected by council.

Mr. Powell, who has just returned to the city, said that he would read the testimony and confer with Roy D. Warren, chairman of the special investigating committee, before deciding on any further action with regard to the charges by W. S. Loftis, heating and plumbing contractor, that he had been approached by other plumbers on the subject of bids for school jobs.

The regular December inventory is now being taken by the school administration, it was said Wednesday. This inventory is always taken during the Christmas holiday season when the schools have recessed.

Peak of Epidemic Of Flu in Sight, Dr. Bowdoin Says

The peak of the influenza epidemic, which has swept Georgia during the last few weeks, is in sight and in a few days it is virtually certain to recede, according to Dr. Joseph P. Bowdoin, of the state health department.

"We see the crest of the wave in sight and probably in the next few days the disease will begin to wane," Dr. Bowdoin said. "The peak has been reached in many of the larger population centers, but there is still some spreading of the disease in the remote rural districts."

Dr. Bowdoin said the disease has just about reached its peak in the larger population centers and is optimistic over the future developments. This year the disease attacked in mild form and there were few deaths reported as resulting from the influenza. In a few cases pneumonia developed but even deaths from this disease were fewer than usually follow an epidemic of influenza, the statement said.

While the disease has about reached its crest in the larger towns and cities, people should continue to take precautions against its spread, according to health department officials. It is believed that the increase in the disease in the rural sections was due directly to the large number of people who visited other people during the holiday period.

DAVIDSON ALUMNI TO GATHER TONIGHT IN ANNUAL DINNER

Ernest Milton, alumni secretary of Davidson college, Davidson, N. C., will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the annual dinner for Davidson alumni, residing in Atlanta and vicinity, which will take place at the Henry Grady hotel at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Richard Orme Plinn, Jr., of Atlanta, and a son of the North Carolina institution this semester, also will give an informal talk on "The Davidson of Today."

COLLEGE PARK CLUB PLANS CHRISTMAS MEETING TONIGHT

An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged for the annual Christmas meeting of the College Park Club, to be held tonight in the auditorium of the Woman's Club building, at the corner of Main and Rugby streets. It is the custom of the club to devote its December meeting each year to some special entertainment of this kind and the program for tonight represents several weeks of hard work on the part of the committee appointed to arrange it.

Nellie Sullivan's singing and dancing revue will be one of the highlights and the music for the occasion will be provided by Jack Catheart's orchestra. Other numbers include a violin duet by Fred Grief and C. E. Jacobson, accompanied on the piano by Miss Avis Patterson, a trumpet solo by Samuel Young and an address by Harry H. McCowan on "The Future of the College Club." Following this the members of the club and their friends will enjoy dancing, and refreshments will be served.

PREPARATION MADE FOR SALE OF TAGS TO STATE AUTOISTS

Work on rearranging the offices of the motor vehicle bureau to take care of the sale of 1929 automobile license tags, which begins January 1, 1929, is in progress in the office of George H. Carswell, secretary of state. Several workmen were busy Wednesday installing new filing systems and making other preparations for the sale of tags.

Blank licenses may be obtained now at the office of the mail order department and applications may be sent in to that department by mail. These will be held until January 1, when the sale begins.

Automobile owners must purchase two tags this year, one for the front of the car and one for the rear, the two tags costing no more than one tag cost last year.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS
IN SOUTH ARE PRAISEDH. W. Berg, of Minneapolis, Impressed by Growth,
Stability of Dixie.

The financial situation of the south is sound and on an equitable basis, affording notable opportunities to new industrial and financial enterprises. This statement was made by H. W. Berg, of Minneapolis, Minn., vice president of the Investors syndicate, prominent national financing organization, in characterizing the fiscal condition of the section, following his recent visit to Atlanta on an inspection tour of the syndicate's branches throughout the south.

"The rapid growth of the south in recent years has attracted the attention of the entire nation, resulting in a condition that adds new momentum to the forward movement," Mr. Berg stated. "It is gratifying to see that this growth is built upon a substantial foundation."

The investment company executive seemed highly pleased with the favorable outlook for future business in the south. He was strongly impressed with the possibilities held forth for Atlanta in its position as "central cog in the gigantic forward movement that marks the progressive enterprise of southern industry," revealed in records of the Jefferson Mortgage company, local agents for the Investors syndicate.

"Based on these wholesome conditions, the Investors syndicate is, and has been, prepared to enter the southern field in a large way," Mr. Berg stated. "The syndicate will place unlimited funds at the disposal of their agencies, here and in other parts of the south."

Mr. Berg was favorably impressed with building conditions and the outlook for home ownership in Atlanta.

FEELS IT HER DUTY
TO TELL OTHERS
HOW IT HELPED HERAnother Atlanta Woman
Describes How Sargon
Brought Back
Health and Strength
After Attack of Flu.

"I do not care for publicity, but I do feel it my duty to let others know of the wonderful benefits I have received from Sargon and the Sargon Soft Mass Pills."

"For months before I began using Sargon I was in such a badly run-down condition I realized the need of some tonic to build me up, but I did not know what to take. To make matters worse I had a severe attack of the flu and this left me weaker than ever before. I was so badly run-down and debilitated that I was uneasy about myself. In fact, my health was so bad I realized I could not go on much longer without a complete nervous and physical breakdown. My nerves were so upset I could not rest night or day. My work would tire me out and I would worry and become nervous over the least little thing. Night was my worst time and it just looked like there was no rest for me and I would lie in bed awake when everyone else was asleep. I felt so bad I did not want to clean up my house. I lost interest in everything and did not care to go out and meet people. There were months at a time I did not go to town. I had no appetite scarcely and really never got hungry."

"This was the condition I was in when I started taking Sargon. I heard about the medicine through friends and neighbors of mine who are taking it, and they recommended it very highly to me. I have been taking Sargon about two weeks. It has done everything they claim for it in my case. It has not only brought back my strength but I am no longer nervous and feel ever so much better in every way. I also have a good appetite now and enjoy my meals."

"I also want to recommend the Soft Mass Pills. They were just what I needed for my liver had been inactive for a long time."

"My husband is also taking Sargon now and we would not be without this medicine in our home."

The above statement was made by Mrs. J. A. Gillespie, who resides at 10 Oak street, this city. She is well known and highly respected in that section.

When Sargon is given to people in a nervous, run-down, debilitated condition, the following improvement is noted in the majority of cases:

The appetite increases, the complexion clears, gas, bloating and hyperacidity are overcome, constipation disappears, a sense of well-being and physical alertness replaces a dragging body and depressed mind.

Sargon is fulfilling its great health-giving mission in Atlanta, just as it has been doing in many other cities throughout the country, and scores continue to visit the Jacobs' stores daily to learn more about this new scientific formula. A special representative of the Sargon Laboratories can be seen at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, where he will gladly explain the therapeutic action of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills to all who are interested.—(adv.)

most theatrical figures in the country, is in Atlanta spending the Christmas holidays at his home here.

For many years Colonel Schiller was located in Atlanta, serving as general manager of Loew's southern and southwestern circuits. He served as a colonel on the staff of former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick and also held other important posts.

After he left Atlanta to fill a high post in the Loew organization, Colonel Schiller still maintained his home here and still calls Atlanta "home."

He is visiting Mrs. Schiller and his daughter, Mrs. Byron Akins.

Miss Leneta Lane
Glad for Chance
To Appear Here

Miss Leneta Lane, attractive leading woman of the Charles L. Wagner Producing company, which will present several Broadway shows in Atlanta this season, is highly pleased over the opportunity to play in this city. In a letter to Mr. Wagner, in New York, Miss Lane expresses appreciation of this opportunity and promises to do her best to make a success here.

Miss Lane's letter to Mr. Wagner is as follows:

"Dear Mr. Wagner: Allow me to take this opportunity of thanking you for effecting the engagement whereby I am to appear under your able management. It is also very gratifying to me to be associated with such distinguished artists."

"It has never been my privilege to play in Atlanta, which I now look forward to with much pleasure. However, the people of Birmingham were most gracious in their approval and acceptance of my work when I played there last season and I hope to merit your and their approval in a greater degree this season."

"With kind regards, I am,

"Sincerely yours,

"LENETA LANE."

Miss Lane is now engaged with other members of the company in rehearsing for "Paris Bound," the first production of the new season which will be presented at the Erlanger theater the week of December 31.

JURY TO CONSIDER
HARSH, GALLOGLY
TRUE BILLS TODAY

With only the indictment of George R. Harsh and Dick Gallogly on 15 holdup counts scheduled, the Fulton grand jury will have its only session of the holiday week today.

Harsh and Gallogly, under indictment and in the Fulton Tower, charged with the slaying of S. H. Meeks and Willard Smith in holdups, for which they will be indicted today, are being held without bond. Harsh, immediately after his arrest nearly two months ago, confessed to the series of robberies and the murders of Meeks and Smith, implicating Gallogly.

No other presentments will be offered the grand jury. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said Thursday.

TWO BOYS HELD
AFTER ADMISSION OF THEFT OF AUTO

Clifford R. Sankey and Roy E. Flower, who gave their ages as 16 years each and their home as Meadville, Pa., were brought before U. S. Commissioner Griffith Wednesday afternoon, where they admitted that they had stolen an automobile in Pittsburgh, Pa., on the night of December 21 and that they had intended driving it to Florida. The plan miscarried when they were arrested going through College Park Monday night. It was stated, and each is now awaiting trial under $1,000 bond, the amount assessed by Commissioner Griffith at the conclusion of the hearing.

DANGER NOT YET OVER
FOR BRITISH MONARCHPhysicians Post Daily Bulletin
Telling of "Quiet Day, Slow Progress."

London, December 26.—(AP)—The physicians have not yet been able to announce that King George is out of danger, as had been hoped, but their medical bulletin tonight again tells of "slow progress" toward recovery. Lord Dawson of Penn, Sir Stanley Hewett, and Sir Hugh Rigby were only in consultation for 45 minutes this evening and all three left immediately after the bulletin was posted. Sir Stanley dined out, but returned to Buckingham palace later to spend the night near his patient as he has done for some weeks.

Tonight's bulletin said, "His majesty had a quiet day. The slow progress in general and local conditions is maintained. No bulletin will be issued until tomorrow evening."

Apparently it is intended henceforth to issue only one bulletin in 24 hours, which in itself tells that the doctors have a confidence in the recuperative powers of the king which had not existed previously during the whole course of the illness. At the same time they continue to stress the factor of slow progress, which is a warning to the nation against overconfidence.

Again tonight the ultra-violet light treatment was omitted. Doctors Woods and Hewett not coming to the palace.

CHICAGO SOCIETY GIRL
GOES ON THE STAGE

Chicago, December 26.—(AP)—The stage has drawn another recruit from Chicago society in Miss Jean Affeld Lehmann, daughter of the Otto Lehmanns. Miss Lehmann is a member of the ballet of a musical play at a local theater.

Otto Lehmann formerly was one of the owners of the Fair Department store. His horses have taken many blue ribbons at society horse shows.

YULETIDE PROVIDES
NO LET-UP IN WORK OF PROHIBITION OFFICERS

Christmas and the accompanying festivities brought no let-up in the work of prohibition enforcement agents, judging from the number of reports received on "the morning after" by H. P. Wright, deputy prohibition administration for this district, which show a large number of stills destroyed, arrests and confiscated cars during the past few days.

Glen Jones, of 362 Boulevard, N. E., had the misfortune to be caught Christmas day, when officers patrolling a road in Forsyth county, became suspicious of the contents of the car he was driving, gave chase, and discovered a cargo of 150 gallons of whisky, valued at $960.

The report of the incident stated, Jones was bound over under $300 bond by Commissioner Griffith Wednesday.

Marion Higgins, of Dahlonega, surprised while at work on a 50-gallon still, took to flight and was not apprehended until he had led the arresting officers over hill and dale for something like three-quarters of a mile, the report stated, and his case is pending before the U. S. commissioner. In addition to the still, the officers seized and destroyed seven fermenters, 10 gallons of whisky and 2,000 gallons of beer, the whole being valued at $400. Higgins, it was said, admitted that he was making "pretty good whisky."

One of the largest stills reported, recently seized and destroyed in Lumpkin county, had an estimated capacity of 110 gallons a day and the same plant yielded 16 fermenters, 4,500 gallons of beer and 700 pounds of sugar, agents' report stated. The outfit had an estimated value of $635. A 75-gallon capacity still together with 22 fermenters and 4,400 gallons of beer also was destroyed in White county.

A tabulation of other seizures shows the following destroyed: 45 fermenters, seven stills, more than 11,000 gallons of beer and more than 25 gallons of whisky. Raids were conducted in Dawson, Union, Gwinnett, Lumpkin, Murray, Gilmer, and White counties and cases were made against seven men on various prohibition violation charges.

Christmas Auto
Deaths in Chicago
Total Thirteen

Chicago, December 26.—(AP)—There were 13 deaths from automobile accidents in Chicago over Christmas—one of the largest death lists from such cause ever recorded during a holiday period here. The fatalities brought the number of motor car deaths for the year to 1,051, which is a record. Seven of those killed were struck by motorcars while crossing the street. One was a boy four years old in his mother's arms, killed as he was being carried from a street car to the curb. Frosty pavements were blamed for the other accidents.

The accidents occurred Christmas eve and Christmas day.

vs. INFLUENZA

To combat the flu, take 666 every three hours till it acts well on the bowels, then three times a day. As a preventive, take it two or three times a day. 666 was found to be one of the most effective remedies during the last flu epidemic.

THE CHALLENGER

NOW READY and bids 1,000,000
Super-Six Owners to pit it against all that motordom has to offer.....

24% Greater power—Over 70 miles an hour—Hydraulic shock absorbers all around—Effective double-action four-wheel brakes, the efficiency of which is not affected by water or mud and which permit positive car control by the slightest foot pressure—Larger, roomier bodies—Seats easily adjustable to comfortable driving position—Electric gas and oil gauge—Instant starting regardless of weather—New radiator, with shutters, of course—All bright parts chromium-plated—New easier steering—Greater economy in fuel and oil.

IN FAST GET-AWAY—no car is excepted. IN SPEED—anything the road offers up to 70 miles an hour. IN HILL CLIMBING—against any car you choose. IN APPEARANCE—match it for smartness with costlier cars. IN EASE OF DRIVING—note smoothness of motor—ease of steering—roadability and effectiveness of brakes. IN ENDURANCE—60 miles an hour all day long is well within its range.

One million owners know the special advantages of the Super-Six. They are best qualified to compare the Essex the Challenger. To them we offer first opportunity to test the most powerful, the largest, roomiest, smoothest, easiest riding—most complete Essex ever built. But all motordom must be astounded that even with seventy-six notable improvements, the price is the lowest in Essex history—a price but little above the lowest-priced car on the market.

SAINT NICHOLAS GOES IN RETREAT FOR YEAR

Roar of Traffic, Hum of Business Supersedes Jingle of Sleighbells.

New York, December 26.—(AP)—Old Saint Nicholas was back in his snowy fastness today, having spread his annual cheer across the world once more.

The jingle of his sleighbells was superseded by the resumed roar of everyday traffic and the droning hum of the mills of business.

For another year he was gone but he had left behind him the satisfying knowledge that this visit had marked the closing days of a year of wide-spread prosperity.

Attesting to this prosperity were the wrecked counters of the toy stores, post office records showing the millions distributed here and abroad in Christmas money orders, and fat bonuses in Wall street.

Christmas day here, warmer than in many years, had more the appearance of Easter than the winter holiday. Fifth avenue and the parks were filled all day with strolling thousands in their best bibs and tuckers and the churches were crowded to standing room.

The peace and good will of Christmas time was marred by only scattered instances of violence and tragedy throughout the country. There were the usual number of automobile accidents and most cities had some alcoholic cases added to their hospital lists.

There were no serious Christmas casualties here, but in Akron, Ohio, six persons were killed in a fire. In Berkeley, Calif., a student burglar was shot. A reputed bootlegger's bodyguard was killed at a Christmas eve party in Chicago. A father and his two sons were killed in Hondo, Texas, in an argument over a bottle of milk.

In the most serious of the automobile accidents, four men were killed at Malaga, N. J., and two women were killed in Richmond. Three youths in Lynchburg, Va., three men and a boy in New Orleans, and two men and a woman in Sedalia, Mo.

Cuticura Healed Severe Case Of Eczema On Hand

"I had a severe case of eczema on my hand. It looked red and rough at first and then would become dry and scale off. It itched and burned so at times that I scratched it, making it worse. I could hardly sleep at night on account of the irritation. I had to wear a rubber glove when I put my hand in water. I suffered about twelve months with the trouble.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief after using it. I purchased more, and after using about half a cake of Soap and half a box of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. E. Hedge, Goodrich, Tenn.

Use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum to promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health; the Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal, and Talcum to powder and refresh.

Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. B, Malden, Mass.

ESSEX 'CHALLENGER' PLACED ON DISPLAY

Popular Six Enters 1929
Lists With Brighter, Finer
Car Than Ever.

Essex, largest selling six of 1928, with full appreciation of knighthood's slogan "If thou be the leader keep thou thy armor bright" enters the 1929 competitive lists with a finer, brighter, more audacious car than ever before and under "The Challenger" throws down the gauntlet with a confidence born of 20 years of success.

While there are no radical changes in either chassis or body lines, Essex engineers, designers and artists have combined to produce a model that for stylish lines, luxurious upholstery and appointments and performance justifies the optimism of manufacturer, distributor, dealer and salesman alike. These cars go on display today in the display rooms of the Anderson Motor Co., in the Lullwater building.

24 Per Cent Power Increase.
Power in the six is increased 24 per cent through a long list of motor improvements that include a larger bore, greater valve lift, spark plugs located over exhaust valves, heat treated aluminum pistons, special oil rings, matched connecting rods, cooled valves, new timing, a new oiling system of increased capacity and new carburetion.

Important changes all along the line of power from crankshaft to rear axle have contributed materially to greater performance, since vibration has been taken up completely and power losses reduced.

The engine itself is mounted on rubber. The new crankshaft is in perfect balance. It turns in a new type of bearing that is a Hudson-Essex invention and that reduces friction and wear to an almost negligible quantity by insuring perfect lubrication and by sealing the bearing surfaces against grit and dirt. Bearings of the same type are used on the connecting rods.

The larger improved clutch conveys all of the engine power to the shaft and takes up all vibration. A four pinion differential and an improved method of universal joint lubrication complete the cycle of improvements that cushion and conserve engine power.

Economical, Too.

The high mechanical efficiency of the Challenger exemplified in the new cushioned power flow is found throughout the car. The new motor, for all its tremendous power is economical of fuel. New carburetion, new heat control methods and new manifolding secure the utmost power from every drop of gasoline. The new automatic priming device gives you "One turn" starting in all seasons. A "Booster" device on the vacuum tank insures ample fuel for long running on an open throttle. A gasoline filter protects the carburetor from water and dirt.

Elimination of vibration, the use of the new motor bearings, improved crank case ventilation and lubrication improvements throughout the car make the Challenger Essex as nearly wearproof as an automobile can be, it is claimed.

PROPOSAL TO NAME HUNGARIAN KING STIRS POPULACE

Budapest, Hungary, December 26.—(AP)—Hungary's dynastic controversy has been revived and brought to fever heat by publication of a Christmas message from Lord Rothermere in which the British publisher urged the Hungarian people to elect some foreign prince as their king instead of a scion of the House of Hapsburg. The message started discussion of dynastic problems throughout Hungary.

The legitimists, who are seeking to place on the vacant throne the Archduke Otto, son of Charles IV, who was deposed at the end of the world war, voiced prompt and undying opposition to Lord Rothermere's suggestion. The message had warned them that the election of Otto or any other Hapsburg would nullify all Hungarian efforts to revise the 1918 peace treaties, but the legitimists said they would ignore that warning.

WOOD PULP SURVEY IN GEORGIA BEGUN; MILLS ARE PLANNED

A survey to determine the available supply of wood pulp in Georgia has been begun by the state forest service, after inquiries coming from other parts of the country with a probable view to the establishment of one or more paper mills in this state.

State Forester B. M. Lufburrow has requested numerous leading landowners and sawmill operators for the information. Mr. Lufburrow said it is his opinion that the south is destined to become one of the nation's principal sources of supply for wood pulp, entering into the making of paper, rayon and other cellulose products.

BURGARS ENTER THORNE HOME BUT SAFE FOILS THEM

Chicago, December 26.—(AP)—The apartment of Mrs. George A. Thorne, widow of the former vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., was burglarized yesterday by men who forced an entrance through a rear door. Little of value was taken, though the walls were hung with costly tapestries and a wall safe contained valuable silverware.

Mrs. Thorne is in Florida, the apartment being maintained by a housekeeper. A son, George A. Thorne, Jr., is with the Byrd antarctic expedition.

2 Cops Killed Seizing Insane Army Officer

Mexico City, December 26.—(United News).—Two policemen were killed and nine persons, including three women, were dangerously injured tonight in a four-hour battle with an insane army captain, Antonio Reyna Hernandez.

Hernandez barricaded himself in a friend's house and turned a machine gun and two pistols on the police who tried to capture him. After a battle which lasted most of the afternoon, Hernandez was knocked down by a stream of water from a fire hose thrust through the window. He was suffering from a number of wounds when captured. Hernandez fired more than 500 shots with his pistols and machine gun before he was captured.

Only after he had been seriously wounded did police succeed in breaking into the barricaded house and thrusting the fire hose through. Two of the policemen who led the attack were killed and three of their comrades were wounded.

The three women, injured were neighbors who came within range of the fire.

THE YOUNG PRETENDERS

By Alice Grant Rosman

INSTALLMENT XLVI. HUGO'S DAY OF DESTINY.

(Letter from Helen Mostyn to Paul Updett.)

Tuesday evening.
I am very blue tonight, dearest, and in a rage with all the world, and so I am writing to you for relief.
I have found out what is troubling Hugo. It is his father. I thought Sir Richard Donaldson had in his treatment of you, my darling Paul, but you were, after all, only a case to him and your parents were his friends. There was at least some excuse for his prejudice and misunderstanding. But for his treatment of Hugo there is no excuse. It is simply monstrous and inhuman, and I was so furiously angry this afternoon that I very nearly went and demanded an interview to tell him so, damning the consequences.

After all, I didn't, however, for I knew it would mean the end of my visits to Hugo, and I believed he would miss me. . . . No, that wasn't the real reason, either, only a minor one. I want to keep my job because, with such a good salary, I can save for our future. I can't help loving Hugo for his loyalty and devotion to you, and I would do almost anything to help him, but you come first.

Everything they told me about Hugo's strange attitude toward his father was a lie. It was all the way around. The poor boy got up to mischief at Oxford and was sent down, and, although there was no real harm in what he did, and in spite of his accident, Sir Richard had not seen him or spoken to him since. Hugo tells me this is why he is shut away upstairs, out of his father's sight, and that his mother even pays for his food and nursing because his father won't acknowledge his existence. I suppose such behavior shouldn't surprise me after the way your parents have treated you, yet it seems beyond belief that a man should be so wrapped up in his own dignity when his son is lying helpless in his house.

No doubt they invented that story about Hugo's delusions with regard to his father for my benefit, to make me avoid the subject with him, so that I would not learn the truth, but it seems absurdly unnecessary. Or, perhaps, they tell every one the same story to explain why his father never goes near him. I dare say Lady Donaldson is ashamed of Sir Richard's behavior and wants to hide it. I don't wonder—though, if I were in her place, I should take the boy away and go with him and never speak to Sir Richard again.

I might, of course, go to see Sir Richard and tell him Hugo is fretting. But I can't tell him as hard and self-centered as that would be moved by anything I could say. And, besides, it would be useless to try to disguise my identity, and I should have to admit I have been going to his house under an assumed name, hoping to hear news of your enemies and what they are going to do next. Then he would be more than ever convinced that all the evil things he thought of me were true, and I can't risk it.

If Lady Donaldson can't bring him around—and no doubt she has tried—it isn't likely that I could do so, and I know it is quite useless to think of it. I must just go on reading to Hugo and doing what I can to help him, really nothing at all. At least he has Bunny, and what can a mere father matter beside love like that? We know, don't we, my dearest Paul?

I had left this letter and gone to bed, but I couldn't sleep, and now something else has just occurred to me—that day I saw Sir Richard in Hugo's old room! He was sitting at the desk, with his head buried in his hands, and he certainly looked very much confused at being found there.

Why should he have come there if he hates his son? Am I being utterly sentimental in supposing his presence there had any connection with Hugo? I thought at the time it was because he was distressed about the boy and dared not go near him, and that he found some comfort in being among his things, but I am not sure of what I know now that is ridiculous. And I remember he begged me not to mention to Hugo that I had found him there, in case it should upset him. Did he mean that he couldn't bear his son to know that he would even condescend to enter his old room? . . . It sounds like a silly child in a temper. Besides, he thanked me for reading to Hugo, and why should he have done that?

I can't understand it. The whole thing seems so contradictory, and the more I think of it the more confused I become. He surely can't be held back from making up this difference with Hugo through mere stiff-necked pride, and yet there are people like that, who don't seem to realize there is enough misery in the world without adding to it by their own blind obstinacy and self-conceit.

It is too much for me, Paul, darling. I can find no answer to all these questions, so I shall go to bed and take myself firmly in hand and think of you instead.

YOUR HELEN.

Wednesday Morning.
I have been packing since six o'clock because I shall have to leave Mrs. Ponder and find another lodging. It isn't any good, Paul, dearest. I have been arguing against myself all night, but I must go to see Sir Richard.

You and I are young and strong, and we are not such poor fools that we can't face the world without help from any of them; but Hugo is helpless, and I owe him so much for believing in you and in the girl you married because you married her and in spite of all they said against her. After all, "Safety first" is a coward's excuse.

I am still at sea over Sir Richard's queer behavior, but at least certain he was concerned for Hugo when I saw him on Saturday. There was nothing hard about him then. He is sure to see me, because he will imagine I have come about that offer from your people. If he refers to it, I shall ask him if he has heard of his son's engagement to Mostyn, with you mother's story. I shall enjoy giving him that little shock, for, of course, he will have no idea how I could have heard about it.

When I have seen Sir Richard I shall go to the bank, I think, and draw out the money you left in my name and put it in a postoffice savings bank, where I shall not be in danger of running into your friends. Then another lodging and another job to find.

I shall miss my hours with Hugo, but if I can make Sir Richard come to his senses I shall not mind anything. If he remains obstinate, I may see Bunny Molyneux and let her to try. A rich daughter-in-law meant so much more to your parents than their son, and I am sure I may be equally persuasive to Hugo's father. Very likely she has already tried and failed.

Am I a fool to rush into the affair at all? Very likely, but at least I can't sit with Hugo day after day and see his misery and do nothing about it. Paul, darling, I'm going. Wish me luck.

Holiday Spirit Continues To Reign at Social Gaieties

The holiday spirit continues to reign at the innumerable parties being given during the remaining days of Christmas week. Not until the Yuletide cease and bridge parties will keep members of both the younger and older contingents busy throughout today.

College girls, debutantes and visitors run a close race in the lead for the number of gaieties at which they will be honor guests today. A novel event of the morning will be the stag party at which Vezey Rainwater will be host at his home in Druid Hills in honor of his sons, Vezey Rainwater, Jr., and Brown Rainwater, who are home from school for the holiday vacation.

Wedding bells will substitute for Christmas chimes at three lovely ceremonies scheduled for today which center the interest of a large number of Atlantans. The first of the trio will be the marriage of Miss Eva Walter Corley and Edmund W. Kirsch, which will be solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning at the Sacred Heart church. In the early evening a number of prominent Atlantans will motor to Newnan, Ga., where they will attend the wedding of Miss Harriet Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Jones, and William Buchanan Hill, which will be a brilliant event taking place at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist church of Newnan. Another wedding of interest in a near-by town is that of Miss Sara Frances Boswell and Archibald Dinsmore Holland, which will be performed in Decatur at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride-elect.

Phi Mu Luncheon Saturday Afternoon

The annual Christmas luncheon of the Phi Mu fraternity, originally scheduled for Wednesday, December 26, has been postponed and will take place at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Druid Hills Golf club, it was announced Wednesday.

Miss Greenblatt Visitor for Holidays

Miss Lavinia Dorothy Greenblatt, lovely school girl who is returning to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Greenblatt of 910 Ponce de Leon avenue, will arrive December 30 from New York. She has been the guest of Miss Marjorie Bloom, of that city, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wilner, of Woodmere, Long Island.

Many lovely parties and social functions have been planned for this charming school girl.

Miss Greenblatt is a graduate of Girls' High school, having completed her course this past June. This summer she and her parents enjoyed an extensive tour throughout Europe. They included in their itinerary London, Paris, The Hague, Berlin, Lido Beach and Rome.

Miss Greenblatt will return to school January 9. She is attending Lassell seminary at Auburndale, Mass., where she is taking a college preparatory course.

Eastern Star Officers Installed

On Friday evening, December 21, at a regular meeting of Ben Hill chapter No. 226, Order of the Eastern Star, officers were duly installed in a most impressive and beautiful manner by Mrs. Leta G. Manly, a past matron of Lebanon chapter, and Mrs. Hanson Garland Marshall, of the Order of the Eastern Star of Georgia. The officers are as follows: Mrs. Leta G. Manly, worthy matron; Irving Bryant, worthy patron; Mrs. Coles C. Copeland, associate matron; Mrs. Cora Bryant, secretary; Mrs. Eva Simonton, treasurer; Mrs. Tina Wheeler, conductress; Mrs. Thelma Austin, associate conductress; Mrs. Lena Wallace, marshal; Mrs. Leticia Roach, chaplain; Mrs. Mary Waits.

This is an annual event and a large crowd is expected to be present. Dancing will commence promptly at 9 o'clock and will continue after midnight. Many new features will be introduced and unusually good music has been provided. This will be a strictly formal affair. Further particulars regarding it will be published later.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Posey Roberts celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with two receptions Wednesday, December 26, from 3 to 5, and 8 to 10 o'clock, at their home, 215 Clairmont avenue, in Decatur. The chandeliers, doorways and mantels were garlanded with southern smilax. A cluster of golden wedding bells hung over each doorway. Yellow roses in baskets and vases decorated the entire house, and the lights were shaded with golden rose shades.

Mrs. Roberts was gowned in black georgette combined with flesh georgette and wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were their daughters, Mrs. A. P. Newman and Miss Bonnie Roberts. Miss Roberts wore coral transparent velvet, and Mrs. Newman wore flesh georgette. Mr. and Mrs. Frances Newman and Jim Newman, of Florida, were among the out-of-town guests. The register was kept in the afternoon by Miss Imogene Allen and at night by Mrs. D. C. Lawton. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Nyman rendered a musical program in the afternoon and at night the old love melodies. Mesdames C. O. Duvall, T. C. Jackson, B. R. Beck, W. F. Harbour, Frank Pattillo, A. G. Barnett, D. C. Lawton and Misses Imogene and Clara Mae Allen, Frances Jackson and Estelle Bryant assisted in entertaining.

Telegrams and telephone calls of congratulation were received all day, besides many beautiful gifts. Three hundred called during the afternoon and evening. The wedding of Mrs. Roberts, formerly Miss Adeline Bagwell, took place 50 years ago on the plantation of her father, Daniel Bagwell, near Gainesville, Ga. Mr. Roberts is the son of the Rev. Stirling Roberts.

Social Gaieties

Are of Interest To Army Society

Fort McPherson, December 26.—Christmas day at the garrison was crowded with joyous events. From the candlelighted, midnight service held in the post chapel by Chaplain John Hall on Christmas eve until the lowering of the garrison flag at twilight, the military contingent were busy at informal gatherings, wishing each other merry Christmas and exchanging gifts gaily wrapped and exclaiming over some special treasure.

Christmas morning Colonel and Mrs. Lochlin W. Caffey and the officers and ladies of the Twenty-second Infantry revived an age-old custom when they assembled at headquarters and visited each mess hall of the regiment inspecting the choice menus prepared by the mess sergeants and wishing the men of the command a merry Christmas.

At noon the company officers and their families and the wives and families of the enlisted personnel were guests at the various companies for Christmas dinner. The colorful decorations and the beautifully engraved menus and roster of each company created much favorable comment. The custom of inviting the officers and their wives to the soldiers Christmas dinner is an old one of the army and creates a feeling of real friendship between the commissioned and enlisted personnel.

Major and Mrs. Augustus B. Jones entertained at a beautifully appointed dinner at their quarters in the garrison Wednesday evening honoring Colonel and Mrs. Haywood Hansell. The table was overlaid with an exquisite lace cloth while a low bowl of richly hued fruit graced the center and tall red tapers in silver holders were placed at intervals. The dainty place cards and nut cups also reflected the clever color motif of red and green.

Covers were placed for Colonel and Mrs. Hansell, Colonel and Mrs. Charles L. Foster, Colonel and Mrs. Will L. Pyles and Major and Mrs. Jones.

Miss Elizabeth Little Is Hostess at Tea.

Miss Elizabeth Little was hostess at a bridge-ten Wednesday afternoon at her home on Peachtree road in company with Mrs. John Shuey, of Miami.

"AFTER BILL DARBY WENT HOME FROM MY HOUSE YESTERDAY, MAW MADE ME GO TO CHURCH. I LIKE TO STAY HOME AND LOOK AT THE CHRISTMAS TREE AND THINGS, BUT IT'S CHRISTMAS SO I HIKED TO CHURCH."

"WHEN I CAME BACK I BEGAN TO PRACTICE PLAYING SOME OF MY MOUTH-ORGANS. MY GOLLY! WHY I SHOULD GET FIVE MOUTH-ORGANS AT ONE TIME IS MORE THAN I CAN FIGURE OUT."

"OLD SANDY CLAUS JUST PUT ONE OVER ON ME, THAT'S ALL. I WAS JUST GETTING TO PLAY HOME SWEET HOME 'PRETTY GOOD, WHEN BILL DARBY CALLED ME UP ON THE PHONE. HE WANTED HIS DOLL BACK!"

"GEE WHIZ! I SAID, I THOUGHT YOU DIDN'T WANT IT, BUT SANDY CLAUS BROUGHT BILL A BABY SISTER AND THAT CHANGED EVERYTHING. FROM THE WAY BILL TALKED YOU'D THINK I WANTED TO KEEP THE DOLL FOR MYSELF."

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

CRAFTY REDDY TORTURES PETER BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Of smooth and oily tongues beware; They oft deceive while speaking fair.

—Mrs. Peter Rabbit.

Straight toward the dear Old Briar-patch trotted Reddy Fox, Peter Rabbit, peeping out between the brambles, with Mrs. Peter right behind him, watched Reddy approach. Reddy came straight up to the edge of the dear Old Briar-patch. He saw Peter and Mrs. Peter in their little brown coats, showed up against the white snow. For just a second there was a hungry gleam in the eyes of Reddy Fox. He was tempted to try to force his way into the dear Old Briar-patch.

But on second thought he realized how hopeless it would be to try to catch Peter and Mrs. Peter there. They had private little paths cut all through the Old Briar-patch and they could run along these without any trouble at all. But Reddy would have to force his way through the brambles and briars. He would only tear his coat and hurt himself, while Peter and Mrs. Peter kept out of his way. So Reddy sat down just outside and grinned at Peter and Mrs. Peter. He tried to make that grin a good natured one.

"Hello, folks," said he. "How do you find yourselves these days?" Peter said nothing, and Reddy continued: "These are hard times. I don't suppose you have a great deal to eat, but you ought to be very thankful that you have anything at all. I've been in the bushes and little trees here that you have been eating bark and twigs. Be thankful that you have bark and twigs to eat. You don't know what real hunger is. Why, I can't get even a Meadow Mouse these days. By the way, I was up in Farmer Brown's dooryard last night and I saw some cabbage leaves that had been thrown out there. I thought of you right away, Peter. To myself I said, 'Peter Rabbit ought to have those leaves. How he would enjoy them!'"

In spite of all he could do, Peter's mouth began to water. There was a look of longing in his eyes that Reddy Fox saw right away.

"I have an idea," said Reddy. "That you would find plenty to eat inside Farmer Brown's barn. Of course, I don't eat that kind of food myself, but

"Hello, folks," he said. "How do you find yourselves these days?"

pleasy up there. I smelled something that smelled to me like carrots. And I think there are turnips up there, too." By this time Peter Rabbit was fairly squirming. "You see, he really was tormented. Just the thought of cabbage and clover hay and apples and carrots only such a short distance away as Farmer Brown's dooryard, was almost more than he could bear.

"Well," said Reddy. "I must be going along. If I don't keep hunting I never will eat. I don't like to think of anybody else as hungry as I am, so I thought I would just pass the word along to you about those good things which you can get as well as not, if you are reasonably smart. I wish somebody would tell me where I could get a good meal. Good by, Peter. Good by, Mrs. Peter."

With this, Reddy Fox trotted off toward the Green Forest, Peter and Mrs. Peter watched him until he became nothing more than a red spot and then finally disappeared. Peter sighed. It was a long, dismal sort of sigh. "I wish I had one of those cabbage leaves right now," he said.

"Don't you believe a word that Reddy Fox said," spoke up Mrs. Peter. (Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

PLAN SETTLEMENT OF JEWS IN RUSSIA

New York, December 26.—(AP)—Satisfactory progress in negotiating with the soviet government an agreement for the extension of American participation in the settling of Jews on Russian soil was reported by Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, director of the American Jewish Joint Agricultural corporation, on his arrival here from Moscow, aboard the Majestic.

Dr. Rosen said the expected ratification of the agreement would result in the expenditure of $10,000,000 for new Jewish farm settlements. The greater portion of this fund has already been subscribed: $5,000,000 by Julius Rosenwald, $1,000,000 by Felix M. Warburg, and $5,000,000 by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

"During the present year," Mr. Rosen reported, "we have settled on the land 7,500 additional people. Our greatest problem is the Jewish population in the towns. They are totally impoverished and greatly in need of raw materials and larger credits to enable the artisans to continue at their crafts."

Dr. Rosen described the political situation in Russia as improved since the recent conference of the Bolshevik party. He confirmed recent reports that Trotsky had been transferred from his exile in Turkestan to the southern Caucasus. Under Dr. Rosen's guidance more than 100,000 Jews have been settled on the land in Russia during the last four years.

BOY WITH TOY IN HIS THROAT HAS PNEUMONIA

Cincinnati, December 26.—(AP)—Frank Brooks, 18 months old child of Asco, W. Va., who accidentally swallowed a toy motorcycle 11 days ago, while eating a package of popcorn, also has been suffering from pneumonia, hospital authorities announced today.

Surgeons have been unable to operate on the boy due to his critical condition caused by pneumonia. The toy lodged in the boy's throat and hospital attaches today said that pneumonia was not an unusual development when a foreign substance became fastened in the throat.

The general condition of the pneumonia was reported improved today by hospital authorities who said the time an operation would be performed was still indefinite.

BLAZE RAZES SIX CAMPUS BUILDINGS AND 2 RESIDENCES

Blue Mountain, Miss., December 26.—(AP)—Fanned by a brisk wind, fire today destroyed six buildings on the campus of Blue Mountain college, a Baptist school for girls, and leveled two near-by residences. Dr. L. T. Lowrey, president, estimated the total damage at $100,000. He thought the insurance would approximate $80,000.

As a result of the blaze, reopening of the college after the Christmas holidays was postponed for about 10 days. Dr. Lowrey said he hoped to be ready to resume classes January 15 or 16.

Tiny Washington Church To Get Hoover Family

BY MARTHA STRAYER. (United News Special Correspondent.)

Washington, December 26.—President-elect Herbert Hoover will attend church at the meeting house of the Orthodox Friends Congregation—tiny, brick structure seating less than 150—at Thirtieth and Irving streets, it was learned today.

The meeting house has been chosen definitely by the Hoovers in place of the little Hicksteite meeting house downtown, which was at first expected to be their choice.

It will have a clergyman, beginning March 1, who has known the Hoovers since they were students at Leland Stanford university. He is Augustus T. Murray, now a resident of Palo Alto, Calif., the president-elect's home town. He used to be professor of Greek at Stanford.

Hoover is reported to have arranged for Murray to come here. The problem of handling crowds at this church will be the same as at the Hicksteite meeting house. It has a tiny auditorium with a seating capacity of only about 150, and a Sunday school room which will seat about the same number.

It has no choir or organ; a piano provides music. There are pews in the auditorium proper, but the Sunday school room, whose seating capacity is added to the auditorium by throwing open folding doors, has only folding chairs.

It is understood that the other meeting house was not eager to be selected by the president-elect, because of its form of service as well as its small size. This is a Hicksteite sect, whose service has no regular preacher or preaching; any member of the congregation may rise at any time and speak on any subject he or she may choose, except that it must have some religious bearing.

Embarrassment was feared if "cranks" or others eager to reach the president's car should take this means of speaking in his presence. The service at the Thirtieth street meeting house permits the same kind of speaking, but this may be eliminated by the new minister.

PASSED UP AUTO FOR HORSE AND BUGGY; IS HURT

Memphis, Tenn., December 26.—(AP) William T. Trantham, 70, a blacksmith who considered automobiles dangerous, was injured today when his horse and buggy, was in a hospital today suffering from serious injuries received yesterday when his horse became frightened at a street car and ran away.

Trantham was thrown from the buggy and trampled by the horse, receiving a broken leg, internal injuries and possible fracture of the skull. Mrs. Trantham escaped with minor injuries.

Friends of Trantham said that he avoided riding in automobiles because he thought they were dangerous, going about instead in his buggy.

THIEVES GET RARE WORKS OF ART IN VILLA AT FLORENCE

Florence, Italy, December 26.—(AP) A bronze statue of St. Francis attributed to Donatello was stolen during the night from the villa of Walter Spellman, an American. The thieves scaled a wall surrounding the property and made away with the statue and other works of art.

Donatello was born in Florence about 1396 and died there in 1466. He became one of the leading spirits in the art movement of the fifteenth century. His monuments are regarded as a supreme expression of the spirit of the early renaissance in sculpture and they exercised a potent influence on the painters of that age. His majesty was acknowledged by Michelangelo, Raphael and other giants of the late renaissance.

VANDERBILT GETS 100 FISH SPECIMENS ON HAWAII VISIT

Honolulu, December 26.—(AP)—More than one hundred specimens of Hawaiian fish were collected by W. K. Vanderbilt, New York millionaire and sportsman, during the recent visit of his private yacht, Ara. They are for Vanderbilt's own museum and the American Museum of Natural history. The Ara sailed from here for the Carolines, en route around the world.

BOARD EXONERATES OFFICERS IN CRASH OFF JACKSONVILLE

Jacksonville, Fla., December 26.—(AP)—The local board of U. S. steamboat inspectors announced today that charges will not be preferred against two sea captains and a pilot for a collision in Jacksonville harbor several weeks ago.

The collision was between the Seminole of the Clyde Line and the tanker Joseph M. Cudaby.

LIFE SAVER-DRUG, INC., MERGER EFFECTED

New York, December 26.—(AP)—Holders of 550,000 shares in Life Saver, Inc., of Port Chester, N. Y., will receive 146,521 shares of Drug, Inc., stock under terms announced today for a merger of the two companies. In addition 55,000 shares of a new Delaware corporation to be formed to take over Life Saver, Ltd., the Canadian subsidiary, will be distributed in ratio of 1 share for each 10 shares now held.

Jacket Basketball Team Scores 4-35 Win in Charleston

Golden Stars In Last - Half Rally by Tech

Hudson High Point Man for Tornado in Fast Contest; Wedes Is Next.

Charleston, S. C., December 26.—(Special.)—The Georgia Tech basketball team defeated the Charleston Cardinals here today, 41 to 35, in a closely-fought game that was not decided until the final seconds of play.

Uncovering a furious offense the Jackets swept into a six-point lead after the starting whistle, but tired in the closing minutes of the first half and were tied 14-all when the period ended.

In the second period the Cardinals, composed of stars from several local teams, went into the lead only to have Hudson and Coler for Tech shoot through the local defense and keep several angle shots. The Jackets maintained their slim lead until the last few minutes of play and then increased the margin.

Points to the ultimate six-point difference in the score.

A late rally by the Cardinals was held in check by Golden and Coler, who repeatedly blocked shots by the Cardinals forwards. Golden in particular was the star of the game, making a goal and a free shot in addition to his spectacular guarding.

Bierfisher, forward for the Charleston quintet, was high point man of the contest, jumping six goals for a total of 12 points. Holcombe, at center for the Cardinals, shot five goals for 10 points, one point behind Hudson.

The game was almost devoid of penalties despite the fast play of the two teams and the furious scoring at certain stages of the battle.

Leading Golfers Will Play Today

Long Beach, Calif., December 26.—(P)—The big guns of golf, silenced over the holidays, will resume their cannonading of the west's fairways tomorrow with the opening of the $5,000 Long Beach event.

The shots of such mighty gunners as Walter Hagen, British open champion; Leo Diegel, national professional king; Tommy Armour, former national open champion; and George Von Elm, former wearer of the amateur crown, will sweep two courses here over the next four days in a 72-hole drive that will resume the great $10,000 Los Angeles open January 9 to 13. In all, over 150 of the best known names of golf are found in the entry lists of the Long Beach event.

Play tomorrow will be confined to an amateur tournament, with a purse of $200 for the professionals and trophies for the amateurs. Qualifying rounds of the tournament proper will be played Friday and Saturday over the Long Beach municipal course, with the low 64 scores and all ties going into the championship drive of 36 holes on Sunday over the Virginia Country club course.

Four of the country's outstanding feminine stars will par up with leading lights of the entry list in the amateur event tomorrow. Miss Virginia Van Wye, of Chicago, and runner-up in the women's national championship, will team with the "Haig," Mrs. H. H. Haig, 1927 western women's champion, will pair with the hard-hitting Diegel. Miss Kathleen Wright, one of the best players among the coast's feminine masters, will team with Bob McDonald, the noted stylist from Chicago, while Mrs. Gregg Lufur, of Los Angeles, will play with Armour.

October 4—Spring Hill at Birmingham (night game).
October 12—Mercer at Birmingham.
October 19—Chattanooga at Chattanooga.
October 26—Union at Jackson, Tenn.
November 2—Mississippi college at Birmingham.
November 16—Open.
November 23—Howard at Birmingham.

Gridiron Stars Reach Dallas

Dallas, Texas, December 26.—(P)—Eighteen players who contributed materially to gridiron history in the Big Six conference this year reached Dallas today to begin preparations for a charity contest New Year's day against an all-star eleven of Southwest conference seniors.

The arrivals, headed by Coach Ernest Borg, former Nebraska mentor, and "Bo" McMillan, Kansas Aztec football coach, were taken to a country club, where they will make their headquarters.

Howell and McMullen, Nebraska stars, who are in California for the east-west charity game at San Francisco December 29, will make a hurried trip here from the coast by train and air to join the Big Six squad before New Year's day.

All-American Teams Mr. Stagg Says That Picking Them Is Impossible, Wherein He Is Quite Correct.

BY BEN COTHAN

Mr. Ralph Pulitzer, of whom you have no doubt heard through the medium of his prizes awarded the accomplished of the land each year, should have offered one for the most sensible utterance of the year and the Midway-Alonso A. Stagg, coach of the University of Chicago.

Mr. Stagg made an utterance in New Orleans Wednesday which has given us the almost unsurpassable desire to wave our typewriter three times round our head and yell "Whoopee."

The old man says that picking an all-American football team is an absolute impossibility and if ever the truth were uttered, it was done right there.

One of the reasons advanced by Mr. Stagg is that it takes a coach two or three weeks to decide upon which man is best suited for each position. This is naturally followed by the question: "Then how can experts tell from one game how a man deserves to be ranked better than all the rest at his position?" They can't.

The late Walter Camp started it all back in the prehistoric days of football when you had ten men selected from the teams of Yale, Harvard and Princeton and one possibly from Penn or your all-American team. That was easy enough, for there were hardly any more football teams.

Times change; man progresses; institutions of learning increase; an American public becomes slightly pop-eyed over sports in general and football in particular; huge stadiums rear their massive outlines over the country; probably around 150,000 young men spend their full afternoons in close contact with a football.

Then the dreary December days arrive and the papers are filled with an expert's selection. Out of all the multitude of football players in the land, he has selected the eleven best.

It's done in all seriousness and they perform their tasks with something like reverence.

They Continue.

But still they do it. They pick up a paper and read a glowing home-town account of how this halfback ran wild against Tusculum. Talk drifts in from the tanks about how Smith of Sile college is setting the world on fire. They see one man play a great game on one particular day and decide that he is absolutely the best in the country. And then they have cases of somebody's all this and that team coming out with a man listed thereon who didn't make his letter. Some big time footballer in Chicago was picked on his all-American two days who were playing on the Tech High team here in Atlanta. And so it goes.

It isn't humanly possible for one man to see all the football players in America during one season. They get around that by having three or four experts scattered over the country. One man picking eleven best players out of something like 40,000. Easy, isn't it?

Can't Be Done.

It can't be done. It doesn't seem to us to be quite fair. They name some lad who has played on a large college eleven for his all-star pick when possibly there's a boy of far greater ability playing on some little college team out in the sticks. We might cite the case of Phoney Smith, who played at Mercer a year or so ago. He was as good as any man who ever caused Yale alumni to pay their way into the bowl. Yet he made not one of your all-Americans.

If there were some manner by which statistics could be kept on the individual, as in baseball; if teams played in leagues, as in baseball; if the men play a great number of times during the season, as you do in baseball, it might be possible.

And another thing: Just what good does an all-American football team do you after you've picked it?

MR. HEYDLER'S SUGGESTION

Ghost-Writing Has Flourished for Many Years

NOT NEW, SAYS PEGLER

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, December 26.—Mr. John Heydler's suggestion that ghost-batters be engaged to represent the pitchers at bat has been received as though it represented a new principle in the baseball business, whereas the principle is quite mature and familiar to all persons who are at all familiar with the industry. Mr. Heydler has merely extended the principle of ghost-writing, one of the most important subsidiary activities of baseball, to cover another phase of the baseball player's work.

And the proposed new type of ghosting is relatively trivial because the hitting of the pitchers has never been nearly as important as their writing, which has always been committed by proxy. A good pitcher has been known to earn, or at least to accumulate, as much as $10,000 a year for his literature, but the general run of pitchers, if they were to be paid for their hitting, as such, probably would owe their employers money at the end of a league season. Obviously, then, the proposal to appoint ghost-batters represents an unimportant departure from baseball custom.

I have never been able to obtain a satisfactory explanation of this failing of the pitchers. Jack Hendricks, the manager of the Cincinnati club, is a fallen-away lawyer who still has rational moments now and again when he can apply logic and the rules of evidence to the facts of a situation. In such a moment he once explained to me that the utility of pitchers, when facing other pitchers, was roughly similar to the utility of pickpockets or confidence men, when singled out by chance, for the professional attentions of other pickpockets or other confidence men.

"It all reminds me," he said, "of the case of a very prominent manager of pugilists, who once took a champion of the world out for a tour of 17 mid-western and southern cities in the course of which the champion met his favorite sparring partner and knocked him out 17 times, under 17 different names. One night the sparring partner would be introduced as Hyman Silver, the New York Ghetto; another night he would be Kid Panther, of Arizona; the next night he would be Terry Hogan, the Irish champion, and again he would come into the ring as Al Hooley, of the Celestial empire."

Unscrupulous Affairs.

"The whole effort you have unscrupulous as the champion, the sparring partner and the manager used to ride from town to town in one drawing room and $5,000 of the sport were led to believe that the two boys were strangers to one another."

In the course of the trip, they accumulated a large sum of money, of which the manager received 30 per cent. But on his way home to New York he stopped in St. Louis, which in those days was the headquarters of the narcotic drug trade and was approached with a proposition by a mysterious stranger who offered to sell him five pounds of raw cocaine for $5,000. He explained that this commodity could be retailed in New York for about $1 a pinch and said the $5,000 investment would return a profit of about 500 per cent.

So the manager purchased a five-pound package and hid it in his suitcase. He had never seen cocaine before and was much afraid of it, but on the train ride he became convinced that it was the future of his fortune. And then he discovered that he had been deceived. He had been sold five pounds of pounds of bad quality Epsom salts.

As Ye Sow—

"If you ask me to give you an aphorism to cover the utility of pitchers when facing other pitchers, I should say that those who live by the sinker, the slow ball, the spitter and

All-Americans Big Upheaval Are Foolish, Is Looming Stagg States In Baseball

Says Picking of an All-Star Team Is an Absolute Impossibility.

New Orleans, December 26.—(P)—Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg, of the University of Chicago, who has trod the football field for 40 years, reached New Orleans today to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Football Coaches with the opinion that selection of an all-American team is an "absurdity."

"How can anyone do it," he asked. "Why, it takes a football expert to select a team of 11 players. It takes an intimate contact with his men two or three weeks and sometimes longer to know which is the best player on his own team in certain positions."

"So how can a so-called football expert, who has to pick from the entire United States, know which man in the country is the best for a particular position? It can't be done."

"There is no measuring rod for an all-American player. Some players may be brilliant in the line, but they are very poor at defense. But they are placed on the championship team. I never would pick a man unless he is a first-class player. But, then, I couldn't pick an all-American team."

Once He Agreed.

There was a time, perhaps, when the coach was in sympathy with the annual custom. That was back in 1889 when Walter Camp picked the first all-American team, with Amos Alonzo Stagg as end, on the eleven.

"In those days it was recognized that Yale, Harvard and Princeton had the best football teams in the country and it was easy to pick the best players from those three schools."

Asked his opinion of the proposals to begin the second half of a football game where the first half left off, Stagg said: "I don't know. I have never heard of it. It seems to me that it would be a very good idea."

Seems Unjust.

"It does seem unjust," he added, "to let one team make a touchdown by driving the ball down the field and then let the other tie the score by a lucky fumble, but that is a thing that has happened in the past. It is an element of luck in the game and nearly everybody has some gambling instinct."

He said both proposals, the first by Coach Rodgers, of West Virginia university, and the second by Coach "Pop" Warner, of Randolph, but that he would not advise the latter, as he might be less satisfied if the present rules were changed.

Failure of football teams to attempt more field goals would be a good idea, he said.

Gambling Instinct.

"I suppose it is the old gambling instinct," he said. "The quarterback figures that three points from a field goal would be better than a touchdown of seven points from a touchdown would help a lot. So he tries for a touchdown instead of a field goal."

"But I believe that more points would be made by trying for every field goal with reach instead of taking a chance on a touchdown. But better football is played now than in the good old days."

"Why, they start playing now when they are knee high, so it is no wonder they can play like that. The coaches' meeting opens tomorrow and most of the gridiron luminaries are expected on early morning trains. Coach Stagg was the only one located today. He will leave Saturday for Tampa."

Golf Played With Left Arm

JONES RAISES HIS ARMS AT TOP OF RIGHT ELBOW LIFTED FROM BODY

BY SOL METZGER.

If you think your position at the top of your backswing for the drive is like that of Bobby Jones, sketched here, you should have a snap shot taken of yourself to check up. If it is, you have been spending most of your life from early boyhood on the links. The chances are that to get as far back as Bobby you would be bending the left elbow at quite an angle. That is not good form because in trying to straighten the left arm on the downswing you would most likely fail. Result—slice.

Golf is played with the left arm. Ask any star. All will agree on this point. Some of them bend the left elbow at the top, but when they try to straighten it out as the downswing gets under way.

The right arm enters into each shot. All trainers tell you that to avoid trouble the right elbow must be kept in close to the body at the top. Bobby does not do so, as the sketch shows. That is, it looks that way. But Bobby gets it in close as the downswing starts. It is away from the side at the finish of his upswing because his hands are high and the shoulders tilted as well as turned. The questioning point about this right elbow will be taken up tomorrow.

Sol Metzger has prepared a leaflet on "The Art of Pitching," in which he reveals the secret of how to make the ball "bite" the green when it hits. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of this paper, and ask for it.

The SPORTLIGHT

ALL THE YEAR AROUND FOOTBALL.

Football in California is far from being a fall sport. It comes close to being an all-the-year-around competition, wherein play and practice cover a big part of the circling seasons.

A section of the California schedule runs to January 1, where the Tournament of Roses, at Pasadena, either closes out the old season or opens the new, whichever you care to call it.

On this next occasion California faces Georgia Tech. Stanford was the choice in 1926 and 1927 against Alabama and Pittsburgh.

Within a short spell after this next game is played there will be from seventy to one hundred football players back at practice and play in more than one field—U. S. C. Stanford, California and others.

These big squads, playing through fine weather, will continue to pass, receive, kick, block, tackle and run through plays until late May. This is no imposed drudgery. They like the game and they like to play any part of it—most of them—just as Tack Hardwick did at Harvard a few years ago.

Tack Hardwick would have enjoyed nothing more than twelve months of football each season—taking any part of it for any length of time. There is no such fun in the east, with snow-clad or muddy fields, rain or snow or winds blown from the barren lands of the north. There will be little football until playing conditions in the north.

Handling a football is a big part of the present game. And no one picks this knack, art or science up in a few weeks out of the year. The Harpers and Sculls get that way—expert passers and kickers and ball-handlers—because, like Hardwick, they like the game well enough to break down the barrier of weather—because they find as much fun in practice as they find in play.

They're Off!

Dear Sir: This department is officially acknowledging the first 1929 football rumor. It emanates from a follower of the Michigan team and cheerfully warns the world to beware. The 1928 edition of Freshmen was probably the fanciest thing in the garb of searings that ever man-handled a variety. At the end of the first half of the Navy game, a Michigan coach was overheard to murmur to a brother coach: "Praise heaven the Navy can't work her plays the way the Freshmen did."

Just before the Michigan State game the variety took the ball on the six-yard line, to workout some scoring plays against the "B" team. Great was the success and the coaches timidly brought the Freshmen over to supply the "B" team. Eight minutes later the ball was in mid-field, the yearlings having held the Big Boys for down right off the bat and then marched complacently 35 yards down the field themselves on straight football.

The individual star, says Dame Rumor, is a wee lad named Morrison, Morrison's happiest week was the period preceding the Iowa game, when he was dubbed McLain, and told to concentrate on line plunging. What Morrison did that week is still a coaches' nightmare and after his devastating work the real hero was a sparrow's feather falling on a plush carpet.

One reason why Tex Rickard likes golf so well is that even the deepest heel print in the deepest bunker around Miami is a pipe to play from compared to the traps and hazards of the heavy-weight smearer.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD.

Speed and Action.

Dear Sir: For sustained effort over any stipulated period, basketball, which now comes into its own, ranks well toward the front. The proximity of the seats to the court and the compact playing area lend a personal touch that is missing from the bigger football spectacles. The last half of a basketball game between two evenly matched teams is 20 minutes of a lasting frenzy that football never

ACE HUDKINS SET FOR BOUT THIS FRIDAY

New York, December 26.—(P)—Free from the necessity of working off precious pounds to make a weight limit, Ace Hudkins went through four rounds of light sparring at Stillman's gymnasium today and then hung up the gloves until it is time to put them on in the ring with Rene Devos at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

When the final flurry of boxing was over the Nebraska wildcat weighed in at 154 and appeared in much better shape than when he was forced to half starve himself to fight as a welterweight.

A few blocks away at the St. Nicholas gym Devos likewise was putting in his last few flicks of glove work but the workout was a stiffer one as the Belgian is only a shade inside the 160-pound mark when going to fighting weight. After six rounds of boxing and a session with the bags "The Little Fox" tipped the scales at 162, which left him two pounds to worry off before the official weighing at 2 o'clock on Friday. Only the lightest of exercise is scheduled for both boxes for tomorrow.

After sparring at least four men were ready to bear witness that the punches of this prize pair of middleweight mixers lack nothing in timing, judgment of distance and explosive power. The four were Willie Feldman and Henry Goldberg, New York middleweights, who were on the receiving end in the ring with Hudkins, and Jimmy Pano, of Wilkes-Barre, and Edouard Peryard, a South American, two more 160-pounders, who swapped blows with Devos.

Stagg To Retire As Chicago Coach

Chicago, December 26.—(P)—Announcement of the immediate retirement of Amos Alonzo Stagg as coach at the University of Chicago so he can devote all his attention to his offices of athletic director and football coach was made tonight by university officials.

Ned Merriam, former Maroon star, who has been assistant track coach for the past year, succeeds him.

In point of continuous service, Stagg, the "grand old man of Big Ten athletics," was the oldest active track coach in America. He coached his first Maroon team in 1896 and, except for the 1913 season, has been active ever since. He has been one of the foremost supporters of amateur track competition and was largely instrumental in organizing the national collegiate track meet.

Cubs at Head Of Fielding; Cards Second

Team as Whole Leads and Players Either First or Near Top for Year.

New York, December 26.—(P)—Individually and collectively the Chicago Cubs led the National league in fielding last season. The Cubs not only topped the league in club fielding averages with a mark of .975 but they had a man among the leaders for every position.

The pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals were a close second in both, having a club mark of .974 and five men among the pace setters for the various positions. Cincinnati ran third in club fielding with an average of .973.

Easiest Positions.

Pitchers, first basemen and outfielders have the easiest jobs in the field, according to the 1928 National league figures. Two-five hitters who took part in more than 100 games had perfect records. Fred Fitzsimmons, of the New York Giants, who tops the list, played in 49 games and accepted 38 chances without an error.

Among the tenders of the outer gardens several had errorless seasons but none who took part in 100 or more games. Rube Bressler, of Brooklyn, led those who passed the century mark in games, accepting 253 chances in 147 contests with only four errors. His average was .985. Taylor Douthett, of the Cardinals, was second with a mark of .984, while George Harper, who started with the Giants and finished with the Cardinals, Riggs Stephenson and Kiki Ogler, of the Cubs, finished in a virtual tie for third with averages of .9823, .9822 and .9821.

Grimm Also Leads.

Another Chicagoan, Charles Grimm, led the first sackers with .9934. Bill Terry, of New York, had a .9928 mark, while George Kelly, of Cincinnati, who fell one short of the 100-game mark, had .9911.

Frankie Frisch, Cardinal second baseman, led at his position with a mark of .9884. Fred Fitzsimmons, of the New York Giants, was second with .9750 and Rogers Hornsby, who left Boston to replace Majorine next season, finished third with .973.

The Giants' star, Freddie Lindstrom, topped the third basemen with a mark of .984. Fred Fitzsimmons, of the Phillies, was second among those who played in 100 games, having a mark of .965, while a .948 average was posted by the Braves' third baseman, Clyde Beck, of the Cubs, ranked second to Lindstrom, having a mark of .9583 at the hot corner, but only 87 of his games were played in that position. In 47 games as a shortstop he made a mark of .966.

Horace Ford, Cincinnati shortstop, was first at that post with a mark of .972. Rabbit Maranville, of the Cardinals, took second with .969 and Travis Jackson, of the Giants, third with .962.

Few catchers played in 100 games but among those who did Gabby Hartnett, of Chicago, had the best fielding average, .989. Jim Taylor, of the Braves, and Jimmy Wilson, of the Cards, were close behind with marks of .9852 and .9851.

Alexander Works Men Out Against California Passes; Results Roil Him.

Dana Selected To Referee Game

Pasadena, Cal., December 26.—(Special.)—Herb Dana, of Nebraska, will referee the Georgia Tech-California game New Year's day in Rose Bowl instead of Charles Birch, it was announced tonight by the committee in charge of the game.

Birch is suffering from injuries, it was stated, though the kind or extent were not revealed. Dana, who had originally been selected as umpire was named referee and H. A. Radnoch, of Chicago, was chosen to umpire. Coach Alexander was unchanged.

BY DICK HAWKINS.
Hotel Vista Del Arroyo, Pasadena, Cal., December 26.—(Special.)—Just in case any of the local newspapers in Pasadena wish to report to the enemy just how Tech's team looked in its first scrimmage on California soil, they would be hard pressed to give an opinion.

At times the variety looked like a cross between the bubonic plague and Yellow fever—it was that rotten.

Now, strangely, the followers of the Jackots were delighted at the times when they looked terrible and gloomy in the moments of Tornado fury. According to all laws of reason the Tornado should now be very spotty in scrimmage and should be nowhere near the peak of form. On defense the varsity let California's guests know by Bob Parham, playing the part of Beau Noll, slide through fingers time and again. Phil Von Weller, the speedy scrub end, was looking sum out of the air. Dunlap and Mirell with such frequency that Coach Alexander became exceedingly irked.

One of Coach Alex's peculiarities lies in his tendency to raise the pitch of his voice when he becomes angry. This afternoon he was singing mezzo soprano about zeplzurs during this first scrimmage.

Line Charges Violently.
The first string line charging viciously and its performance was probably the most consistent of the practice event though Leon Keener was playing in Raleigh Drennon's place. The husky blond guard was left in bed when the team went to Occidental stadium to practice this afternoon and he was nursing a fever. Dr. Julian Hiley declared that Raleigh had flu symptoms but had not yet developed the disease and might fight it off. If he does get over he won't be able to play on New Year's day. Jim Brooke, another good guard, is so weak from the ravages of flu suffered before leaving, that he also was left in the cottage when the Tornado blew across the city.

With these two exceptions, the Jackots are in good physical condition. Stumpy has outwitted the cold that threatened him on the trip and Durant is in good health again. Peter Pund, who is now sitting across the table during his journalistic endeavors for the benefit of The Constitution readers, is peering over a bulbous nose that was broken in scrimmage and performed but he declares that noses are small matters in this game and that his injury will not effect his play. After watching Peter for a couple of days we have concluded that he would still be the best center in the United States if he had to be carried to all games in a stretch and performed in his line, bucking in a wheel chair.

Visitors Surprised.
The little giant, Stumpy Thomason, made the visitors gasp with astonishment as he rammed and twisted his way through the scrum for a first down or more every time he carried the ball on offense and Warner Mizell was his usual self. Father Lumpkin went into the varsity lineup long enough to carry the ball once and stopped only when he ran into the grandstand at the north end of the field. But these flashes of offense did not serve to wipe out the memory of shoddy defense.

Coach Alex just walked into the room to visit the members of the press and he does every so often to make sure that he is not misquoted. When asked what he thought of the scrimmage this afternoon he gave his usual expressive statement. "It was lousy."

This reference to vermin would lead one to believe that perhaps Alex was not quite satisfied with the work.

The time is about ripe for the team to begin to show any ill effects the climate may have. On the first day the players worked a little too soon after dinner and many of the players suffered from nausea brought on by the heat, but yesterday and today there was none of this and if they didn't begin to show the dreaded lethargy supposed to result from this warm weather pretty soon one should be safe in supposing that they will not show it at all.

California Picked.
Things are breaking nicely for Tech in the California newspapers. It had been feared in certain quarters that Tech would be made an outstanding favorite in this game and therefore given all the psychological breaks to the enemy but the coast writers are obligingly picking California to win and telling the why for of their pick.

That's a great break for Tech and this attitude is being encouraged by the followers of the Tornado who are now here. This morning in one of the Los Angeles morning papers, Dick Hyland, former Stanford star, predicted a victory for Tech and went to great length to give his reasons. One of these reasons was that Tech is

Professional Sports Row To Be Aired Again

Swimming Draws Weissmuller—Governing Bodies Expected To Define Status of All National Stars.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, December 26.—(AP)—Put down the amateur-professional situation among the man topics of sport to be well aired in 1929.

Swimming has drawn the latest recruit for the "pro" ranks in John Weissmuller and there is hardly a sport now that isn't interested in some feature of the situation—either in making amateur competition safe for the amateurs, fixing the status of various well-known stars or in finding a clear dividing line between pros and simon pures.

"I am getting to an age where I must look to the future and try to earn some money, something in the line of constant training finds hard to do," says Weissmuller, the fastest human fish.

Joe Ray, after quite a few years of medal collecting, expressed some what similar sentiments recently when he forsook amateur ranks to go barnstorming for the gate receipts with El Quaff, another foot racer to yield to commercial persuasion.

Must Make Money.
"I have a family to support and I must do something about it," commented Vincent Richards in effect, about two years ago when he took the step into professional tennis, along with such other stars as Howard Kinsey, Mary K. Browne and Suzanne Lenglen.

The intimation was that Richards could do very little about it by playing amateur tennis virtually the year around, especially where the squad camp campaign alone may now keep its participants engaged from April to August.

Thus there seems to be a frank agreement as to the basic reason for turning pro. Whatever the connecting causes or complications, it is a fact that the turnover has been increasingly large in the past few years.

College stars such as Bruce Caldwell, Owen Carroll, Ernie Nevers and Benjamen Friedman have attractive offers awaiting them in professional baseball or football when they quit the campus life. Norman Ross, Gertrude Ederle and Helen Wainwright, among the swimming stars, have preceded Weissmuller.

Florida Tennis Meet Under Way

Jacksonville, Fla., December 26.—(P)—Martin Buxby, of Miami, former state high school champion, went into the semi-finals of the junior singles events at the Florida state public courts tennis tournament opened here today.

Henry Hoyt, of Jacksonville, defeated Charles Goussard, of Jacksonville, in the second round of the boys' singles, 6-2, 7-5, after both had received byes in the initial draw.

Results of other junior matches were: W. T. Nettles, II, of Gainesville, defeated William Ricker, Jacksonville, 6-2, 6-1; Melvin Tarpley, Jr., of Jacksonville, defeated Aggar, Daytona Beach, 6-3, 6-2; in the first round. In the 6-3, 6-2 in the first round.

Match played, Buxby beat Nettles, 6-1, 6-3, in the semi-finals. John Temple Graves, of Jacksonville, will defend his men's singles championship today against James Keith, Tampa, both having reached the second round by virtue of byes.

overrated, that its schedule was not difficult. After stating this reason there is no need to go into detail about the rest of them. That one is a good sample of the logic therein contained. He also mentioned that Tech ends and tackles could not compare with those of California, and he admitted that Tech might have an advantage at center. Oh dear me, Howard Jones and several other experts of the coast have already picked California and it is to be hoped that somebody takes a census of all the experts on the coast and gets all the predictions for the Bears. That will help.

Price Is Wary.
Nils Price, who directs the Golden Bears, evidently does not believe that his little charges have won a football game. He is working them hard and fast with two practice sessions daily and heavy scrimmages at one of these. Though the gates are closed to visiting newspapers at the enemy camp rumors reach the press shack that Price is developing a flock of new plays. It is to be hoped that he will use all the new plays he can think of. Tech has no good line on his offense anyway and every play will be something of a surprise, so it is to be hoped that he uses a few plays the backs can't handle very well.

Having scouted Tech in the Georgia game, the California coaches have a well defined idea of Tornado formations and Coach Price has a squad drilling every day in Tech's place. Just for fear that this discussion might be clinging too closely to football let us spend a few moments and a few hundred words telling about another piece of entertainment offered to the visitors this morning. Every body took a ride to the top of a mountain which is named Lowe, but which isn't anything of the kind.

Kill or Cure.
If the players are inclined to be nervous they should either be killed or cured after that ride. The street car carries the crowd about halfway up the 5,000-foot slope, then a cable car ad is another thousand feet. After that the surface trolley car again takes up the burden and goes nearly to the peak where snow is found in great quantities. Not having enough room on the mountainside to make a few difficult hairpin curves the car slides out into the air with nothing below but a trestle that can't be seen by the car windows and several thousand feet of space that can be seen. This was one time that Ware Fitzgerald failed to play around on the observation platform. The mathematicians in the crowd amused themselves for some time trying to figure how long it would take for a body to hit the ground if it fell from the window of the car. They finally decided that it would take two long and let it go at that.

Tomorrow the squad will go back to the Rose Bowl again for "doing" the movie studios in Hollywood. When this opportunity takes place Coach Alex will be in grave danger of losing several beautiful members of his squad. It is understood that all movie actresses must wear masks designed by Lon Chaney while the boys are in the lot.

Tomorrow will be another day of scrimmages and judging from the way Coach Alex sang tenor at the session today there will be a lot of fun for the boys when they take the field for the second practice game.

Western Team Works Against Tornado Plays

Spin Play Over Center and Lateral Passes Expected To Aid California.

BY RALPH HUSTON.
Pasadena, Cal., December 26.—(Special.)—Last night a fitting ending to our first Christmas spent in California took place in the ballroom of the hotel.

A beautifully decorated Christmas tree, with Morgan Blake acting as Santa Claus, insured every one of having a good time. Many of the guests from the hotel were present and seemingly enjoyed it as much as the team. Coach Alex was given a golden bear to study and to kick about as he saw fit. Tom Jones, the luckiest boy in squad, was given a pair of unlabeled dice with which to amuse himself with any one who did not know him. Raleigh Drennon was given a small "water wagon" to remind him that he had not much farther to ride it. Raleigh had anticipated a trip to Cuba during the holidays to celebrate the termination of his career on the football squad at Tech. On receiving the invitation to come out here, Raleigh decided that Mexico could do just as well as Cuba. A trip to Tijuana, the day after New Year's, and a good time should be had by all.

"Watkins was introduced to the gathering as the "blonde shock" that Georgia Tech brought out to compete with the noted brunette from Alabama now in the movies. "Cook" should go well in the talkies, as he can sing very well. "Izzy" Shellenman was presented with a merry-go-round from Rebecca, as it seems Izzy has been running around quite a bit but there lately and never seems to get any results. Every one on the squad was presented with some funny present that never failed to bring plenty of color to their faces and a hearty laugh from the audience.

The Georgia Tech Alumni association of Los Angeles presented each of us with a beautiful leather bill fold and the women's division of the Rose Bowl committee sent everyone a large basket of fruit.

At the conclusion Burton was introduced and created quite a sensation, as very few negroes are out here. This morning the buses left at 8:10 for Mount Lowe with everyone on board. A most beautiful trip with prettier scenery is not to be found and even the blunt matter of fact "Father" cut loose with a couple of adjectives that made every one stop and listen. On the way up there were numerous splendid examples of engineering skill and on reaching our destination, some 45 hundred above Pasadena, a panorama was unfolded before us that will be hard to match anywhere.

Price drove his charges through a long, strenuous practice session, however, for hopeful scribes who waited outside the hotel for the practice to get over, saw shadows envelop the structure before the 47 weary Bears headed for their lair at the Huntington.

Tech is supposed, heretofore, to be largely an end running team. It is generally believed that the visiting backs head for the wings and through the tackles on most of their plays. If this be true, then the Bears are well fixed to repel the attack. The two Bear ends—Captain Phillips and Russ Avery—are big and bulky, and probably the best defensive pair of wing-men on the coast. The tackles—Bancroft and Fitz—are equally big and bulky, and invulnerable. If there be a weakness in the Bear forward wall, it is in the middle, where the guards—Schwarz and Gill, and Riegels, and the center—Hoffman and Biff Hoffman—found this alleged weakness to be partly true, but also discovered a mighty capable defensive fullback in Charlie Schmidt who luffed all goals at those spots quite thoroughly and convincingly. Schmidt weighs close to 200 pounds, is fast for a big man, and is a forward looking player in a defensive way, and that statement is being used on single and double lateral passes in a new offensive for the Bears.

Lon is fast and shifty and if he gets the ball he will be fast enough to keep him from passing the Engineer's goal line. Lee Eisan will be on the starting end of those passes. Charlie Schmidt has been used on spin plays from the center of the line, copied after Biff Hoffman's stuff at Stanford. However, he may find Captain Peter Pund a trifle difficult to get by. If Pund's football ability is on a par with his good looks—which, by the way—have caused a lot of comment—he won't let anybody by.

EAST AND WEST TEAMS WORKING FOR NEW YEARS

San Francisco, December 26.—(P)—The eastern and western football stars preparing for the east-west charity game here December 29, went through their hardest workouts today.

Long scrimmages featured the practices and every play that has been learned came up for string. It was the first real scrimmage for the western players and they performed satisfactorily in view of the short time for training thus far. Coach Orr E. Hollingbery used several hard line combinations and switched his line around enough times to indicate that he has not yet hit upon a starting line. The offensive tactics, however, are being built around "Biff" Hoffman, Stanford fullback, and he is expected to see service most of the game.

The eastern squad, several days ahead of their rivals in the matter of practice, also slid through a vigorous scrimmage session. Though the work was somewhat haphazard, Coach Andy Kerr's men impressed critics as being considerably more polished than the westerners.

Both teams will have heavy training spells again tomorrow and will taper off Friday with light practice. Officials in charge of the contest, which is held as a benefit for the Shriner's crippled children's hospital, announced that the ticket sale is much larger than for the previous three games, which have been won by the west. Kezar stadium, seating 60,000 persons, is expected to be nearly filled.

The gigantic board is operated by experts who take their accounts off the telephone wires. The board shows the position of the players, the movements of the ball, the number of downs and number of yards to go. In addition, Mr. Layton stated, he will have an announcer on hand who will call off the plays as they are brought in from Pasadena. Technical details of each play as well as highlights of the game will be called off by the announcer, assuring the audience of complete information on every movement of the players.

The moment a score is made it will be shown on the board and the final gun will find the board on time, Mr. Layton stated.

Starting at 2:30 p. m., Mr. Layton will show a motion picture account of the Alabama-Stanford game taken in 1926 in the Rose Bowl. This picture shows every play of the contest, which ended in a 7-7 deadlock. In addition the film shows the crowd of 80,000 persons and the beautiful football field.

The picture will be shown in the picture house at 4 p. m., Atlanta time. Tickets for the matinee will go on sale at Trammell-Scott Sport Goods company next Monday. All tickets will cost $1.

Billard Meet To Start Soon

New York, December 26.—(United News.)—Billiard stars of the world will compete in New York city in an 182 balling tournament starting February 4. The National Billiard association announced today. Edouard Horemans, present champion of the world, will defend his title against leading experts of the game from the United States, Belgium, France, Germany and Japan. There will be seven competitors for the diamond emblem and money prizes, in addition to the titleholder.

Fownes Is Low At Pinehurst Club

Pinehurst, N. C., December 26.—(P)—William C. Fownes, Jr., Oakmont Country Club of Pittsburgh, turned in a card of 75 today to lead the field in the qualifying round of 18 holes in the twenty-sixth mid-winter golf tournament of Pinehurst Country Club.

The Pittsburgh star went out in 28 strokes and came back in 37 to finish two strokes ahead of Kenneth F. Wilson, York Harbor, Me., and Robert H. Wilson, Southern Pines, N. C. Ken Wilson, Yale sophomore, was medalist last year with a score of 73, and holds the Maine state amateur championship.

GREAT SPORTS YEAR IN DIXIE IS FORECAST

BY HORACE RENEGAR.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Dixie faces 1929 with prospects of a record equalling if not a banner year. The year 1929 will be a program now laid out can be taken as a true barometer.

Beginning with the very first day of the year when Georgia Tech tackles the University of California in the classic rose tournament at Pasadena, Calif., the commanding athletic panorama will be under way.

Marking the third invasion within four years of a southern football team to the Rose bowl, the Golden Tornado, with a clean record, has hopes of bringing home a major: intersectional "victory."

Then, if Tech's Rickard's plans materialize, the boxing swing will come to the south for the first time in modern pugilistic history when the first of the heavyweight championship elimination bouts will be staged here in February or early March at Miami with the probability that William Strickling, Georgia boxer, will be one of the principals.

Yale Comes South.
So much for the boxing, but not football. The year 1929 will see Yale for the first time in history sending its Blue gridiron team into Dixie. This will mark the first time in history that a member of the former "Big Three" has invaded the south. Yale, in its long history, has never played in any city save Cambridge and Princeton with the lone exception of a dedication game at Brown university.

Then, too, Georgia Tech will again act host to Notre Dame. Duke university will play Boston college, the Navy and one other intersectional opponent. Georgia has a game scheduled against New York university at New York. And so on—many others having big games against intersectional foes.

Golf also will see several southerners at the forefront. Bobby Jones expects to defend his national amateur trophy and will again bid, according to present talk, for the national open title. He has made no statement as yet as to whether he would attempt to regain his British open crown, now worn by Walter Hagen.

Watts Gunns To Fore.
Watts Gunn, former national intercollegiate golf champion, present southern amateur champion and twice winner of the American Walker cup team, will also sail forth in search of bigger and better trophies. He will doubtless try for the American open and others will follow.

Then, too, Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, Mrs. Dalton Raymond, of Baton Rouge, and other Dixie woman links stars will be in the field from the start.

The winter golf program in the south calls for more than 40 tournaments on the Florida east coast alone while the west coast, Pinehurst, Hot Springs, Ark., and others will hold their annual tournaments drawing the greatest of the professionals.

Hamm After Record.
Ed Hamm, pride of Lomoke, Ark., and champion broad jumper of the world, will have another collecting year at Tech and will attempt to break 26 feet, a mark he fell near in 1928. While there will be no Olympics to look forward to, Hamm will be ready for the national collegiate, the southern conference meet and other attractions.

The baseball outlook for southern minor league clubs is probably promising than ever. The Southern association with the question of discontinuing the split season before it finds all eight clubs riding high and some banking on new managerial strokes to bring them higher in the pennant race. The Southeastern league, after a season of financial hardies, apparently has six clubs on firmer ground for this season's start. The South Atlantic association, as usual, looks good for a steady year.

Most of the major league squads again will trek to Florida in March for spring training although the New York Giants have switched their camp into Texas after trying Georgia a year.

Cobb a Fuzzle.
The question of what Ty Cobb's connection with baseball will be after 24 years in the majors is yet a puzzle. The Georgia peach has had little to say although he has indicated his retirement from active playing at least.

Collegially, the southern conference basketball tournament at Atlanta in March, the S. I. A. A. tourney at Chicago, Miss., the track and field meet of the conference at Birmingham, the conference golf tourney at Asheville, N. C., the cross-country at Chapel Hill, the tennis meet at New Orleans and the boxing tourney at Charlotteville will be events of interest.

The southern amateur golf tournament, site and dates unannounced yet, also will bring the usual flock of the best linksman of Dixie together. The same holds true for the southern women's meet.

Two new football stadia will be dedicated in 1929. The University of Georgia will open its plant, seating 30,000, with the Yale game while the University of Pittsburgh will visit Durham, N. C., to dedicate Duke's arena, which will seat 35,000.

Nebraska Gets Dana X. Bible As Grid Coach

TEXAS AGGIE MENTOR HAS ATTENDING RECORD; IS MEMBER OF RULES BOARD.

Lincoln, Neb., December 26.—(P)—Coach Dana X. Bible, of Texas A. and M., today accepted a three-year contract as head football coach at the University of Nebraska. He succeeds Coach Ernest E. Borg, who goes to Washburn college, Topeka, Kan., as director of athletics.

Coach Bible has been at Texas A. and M. for the last 11 years. During that period his teams have won the conference championship five times. He went to that school as freshman coach in 1918. He had been in that capacity only a short while, however, when he was offered the head coachship at Louisiana State university. Upon receiving leave from A. and M. he accepted that position and went to the Louisiana institution for the remainder of the season, offered the head coachship of L. S. U. and A. and M. after his season at the former institution, in 1917 Bible elected to return to A. and M.

Bible is a native of Tennessee. He played football at Carson-Newman college, Jefferson City, Tenn.; Centre college, Danville, Ky., and the University of North Carolina. He is a member of the Intercollegiate Football Rules committee.

Pauline Uzdoudin, of Spain, will face the Georgian at Miami Beach, Tex. said, Florida business men and real estate agents are allegedly enthusiastic over the proposal to hold a widely publicized bout at the beach resort, and Rickard believes the interest, and incidentally the "gate" will exceed that of the late and unlamented Tunney-Heeney affair.

Yale To Invade Chicago in 1931

Chicago, December 26.—(P)—The Chicago Tribune tomorrow will say it has learned from reliable sources that Yale's football team will invade Stag field for a game with the University of Chicago in 1931.

If the game is played, it will be Yale's first western gridiron invasion unless another is scheduled unexpectedly in the meantime.

Announcement of the game, The Tribune will say, probably will come at Yale club's annual father and son luncheon here tomorrow.

Rickard Leaves For Miami Beach

New York, December 26.—(United News.)—Tex Rickard left tonight for Florida, promising to announce upon his arrival at Miami Beach the date of the "semi-final" heavyweight elimination bout in which Young Strickling, of Georgia, will be a participant during the last week of February.

The promoter reported requests for tickets from all parts of the south, as well as from many fans in New York and Chicago, despite the fact that Strickling's opponent has not yet been chosen—or at least, not named.

Either Jack Sharkey, of Boston, or Pauline Uzdoudin, of Spain, will face the Georgian at Miami Beach, Tex. said, Florida business men and real estate agents are allegedly enthusiastic over the proposal to hold a widely publicized bout at the beach resort, and Rickard believes the interest, and incidentally the "gate" will exceed that of the late and unlamented Tunney-Heeney affair.

New York, December 26.—(P)—The evening-up of January contracts incident to the circulation of notices estimated at about 45,000 bales, featured the cotton market today. Trade interests were credited with absorbing January liquidation, however, and while fluctuations were irregular, the market showed a fairly steady upward trend. March, after selling up to 25.54, declined to 20.24 at the close, with the general market closing steady, net 4 points lower to 1 point higher, with January relatively steady.

Prices opened at an advance of 3 to 5 points. The market showed considerable firmness during the early trading on reports that the January notices were going into strong hands, while there may have been some buying on expectations of a gradual stiffening up of the southern spot situation.

The circulation of the January notices brought out considerable near-month selling. After advancing to 20.28 during the early trading, January eased off during the middle of the day. Trade interests seemed willing to buy that position at a discount of 7 points, and the market pressure was sufficient to send the price down to 20.14 during the early afternoon, or about 3 points net lower. Later, however, the market rallied, with the price ending at 20.14, a net gain of about 3 to 5 points on the more active positions.

The selling was accompanied by rumors that the market was coming to New York for delivery during January and the opinion was expressed in some quarters that the certificated stock here might be up to 600,000 bales by the middle of next month. Trade interests were moderate buyers at the decline, however, and later fluctuations were irregular, with bulges of 5 to 6 points in the afternoon, indicating further liquidation or southern selling. Last prices were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions. March closed at 20.24, under March compared with a difference of 9 points at the close on Monday.

The Liverpool market remained closed today but will reopen for business tomorrow. Exports today, 6,700, making 4,642,204 so far this season. Port receipts from the United States port stocks 2,361,480.

MARKET PICKUP TOWARD CLOSE.
New Orleans, December 26.—(P)—The cotton market reflected a second undertone today although prices at one time eased off under offerings induced by the circulation of notices. January notices at New York. Good buying, however, developed on all dips and March contracts after trading off on 19.55, 1 point net down for the day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 2 points.

The market opened steady 1 point net down on January to 6 points up on March. The Liverpool market remained closed today but will reopen for business tomorrow. Exports today, 6,700, making 4,642,204 so far this season. Port receipts from the United States port stocks 2,361,480.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

ON FEBRUARY 14, 1779, CAPT. JAMES COOK, THE ENGLISH EXPLORER, WITH A PARTY OF MARINES, LANDED ON THE ISLAND OF HAWAII WITH THE INTENTION OF SEIZING THE NATIVE KING. THERE HAD BEEN FIGHTS AND THEFTS BETWEEN THE HAWAIIANS AND THE SAILORS, AND COOK MEANT TO HOLD THE KING ABOARD SHIP AS A HOSTAGE FOR PEACE AND THE RESTORATION OF STOLEN PROPERTY.

WHEN THE PARTY REACHED THE SHORE, AND ATTEMPTED TO SEIZE THE ISLAND RULER, THE NATIVES RESISTED FIERCELY. IN THE DESPERATE ENCOUNTER THAT FOLLOWED, FOUR MARINES FELL BENEATH THE WAR CLUBS OF THE ENRAGED HAWAIIANS AND COOK DIED FROM THE THRUST OF AN IRON KNIFE.

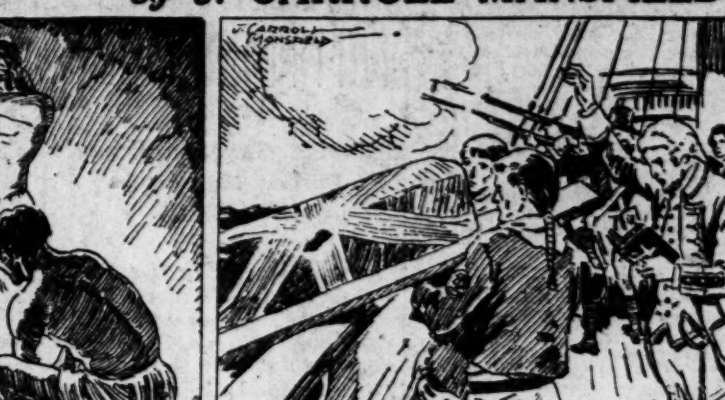

The Story of the Hawaiian Islands.

The Death of Captain Cook

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE SURVIVORS FLED TO THE BOATS, LEAVING THE BODIES OF THEIR COMMANDER AND COMRADES IN THE HANDS OF THE ENEMY. THAT NIGHT ON A HILLTOP THE SAVAGES PERFORMED WEIRD RITES OVER THE ILL-FATED EXPLORER'S REMAINS. THE FLESH WAS REMOVED AND BURNED, AND THE BONES WERE WRAPPED IN RED FEATHERS AND DEIFIED.

THE ENGLISH RETALIATED BY BURNING THE VILLAGE AND, AFTER SEVERAL SHARP FIGHTS, THE NATIVES SUED FOR PEACE. COOK'S BONES WERE RECOVERED AND BURIED AT SEA. HIS TRAGIC FATE MADE A DEEP IMPRESSION UPON SEAFARING MEN, AND FOR SEVEN YEARS NO SHIP TOUCHED AT HAWAII.

TOMORROW—AMERICANS IN HAWAII.

REV. C. HUTCHINGS TO BE BURIED TODAY

Beloved Baptist Minister
Will Be Laid To Rest in West View.

The Rev. Charles R. Hutchings, prominent Georgian and highly esteemed figure in southern Baptist church circles, who died early Tuesday morning at the home in Cuthbert, will be buried today. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning from the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes company, 121 West View street, and interment will be in West View.

Possessed of a magnetic personality and a will to spread the gospel of religion, he was a tireless worker throughout his field of service. Mr. Hutchings was beloved by all who came in contact with him and his influence for good mounted through his years of religious endeavor. His likeable personality and kindness to members of all creeds made his passing keenly felt by the citizens of Cuthbert and by all who knew him.

He was well known in Atlanta during his pastorate at Decatur and through his marriage to Miss Mary Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stewart, of 64 Waddell street.

A native of Georgia, Mr. Hutchings was graduated from the Southern Baptist Theological seminary. From the time of his ordination as a Baptist minister until his death, which occurred at the age of 50, the revered religious leader filled the pulpits of Baptist congregations at Sylva, Ga., and in the West View cemetery.

The Southern Baptist convention will under Section IV (b) of bill of lading at Canon, Ga., Monday morning, December 27, one barrel molasses shipped by American Molasses company from Wilmington, N. C., to the order of J. H. Hutchings, Canon, Ga.

SAULS' EARTH'S CRUST NOT FINISHED IN SHAPE

Scientist Suggests Ocean's
Bottom May Cause
Land Shifts.

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor.
New York, December 26.—(AP)—The earth's crust probably is not "dead" and finished in shape, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told tonight by Dr. Bailey Willis, of Stanford university.

Instead, even the stable bottom of the Atlantic ocean now may be heating up preparatory to causing land shifts. The theory is that scores of miles down in the rocks that form the skin of Mother Earth, great blisters form, as big as whole states, and that as they melt the rocks, the resulting upthrusts make the earth's surface what it is, and whatever it may change to.

Catastrophe Not in Sight.
But there was nothing of possible human catastrophe in Dr. Willis' picture, for he spoke in the new time concept of science, his changes requiring millions of years. He comforted named well-known places where on the slow time scale such shifts actually seem now under way.

Dr. Willis' address inaugurated the annual convention of the association, this subject was "The Origin and Development of Continents." He said all continents are great plateaus of granite, standing high above the sea level, which are of basalt, a heavier rock.

"We know the kind of rock that underlies the sea," he said, "from seismicographs. With such earthquakes we can sink our plummets more than half way to the center of the earth. We know the velocity at which blocks travel, the depth at which they pass through or around the earth, and the kind of rock they pass through. We know that the earth is enveloped killed early today when an automobile rock below which is a thick layer of 2,000 miles in radius, apparently inelastic, very heavy, probably iron, what may be called."

The heat that causes blisters, he said, probably does not emanate from the earth's inner core.

FUNERAL SERVICES
FOR DR. F. P. NISBET
TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Dr. F. P. Nisbet, 64, retired Atlanta physician, who died Wednesday morning at his residence, 190 Howard street, will be conducted at 3 o'clock today at the home. The Rev. Franklin C. Talbot will be in charge.

A native of Jacksonville, Fla., Dr. Nisbet came to Atlanta as a boy and studied medicine here at the Southern Medical college and later continued his studies at Baltimore. Following his graduation he engaged in general practice for more than 25 years, and was forced to abandon his professional endeavor about 15 years ago because of failing health.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Sarah Mallard Jones, of Thomasville; two daughters, Mrs. L. S. Scarborough and Mrs. C. D. Duthie; one son, Dr. R. A. Nisbet, of St. Albans, Vt.; and a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Clark, of St. Albans, Vt.

BRAZIL AND BOLIVIA SIGN BOUNDARY PACT

Is Supplementary to Treaties
Signed in 1867 and 1903.

Rio Janeiro, December 26.—(AP)—Brazil and Bolivia signed yesterday afternoon, at the Itamaraty palace, a treaty of boundaries and rail communications. Fabian Yanez Chavez, Bolivian minister, signed for his country, and the Brazilian foreign minister, Octavio Mangabeira, for Brazil.

The treaty fixes definitely a common frontier in places which were not included in the treaties of 1867 and 1903. This boundary line starts between the source of the River Raparian and the Arroyo Bahia, continuing directly to the mouth of the latter at Chiquitana and then to the mouth of the Madeira river, running equidistant from the margins of the stream, Brazil having jurisdiction of the islands closer to its bank.

The treaty also includes plans for a railroad which will connect Cochabamba and Santa Cruz de las Sierras, extending from there to ports on the Amazon and Paraguay rivers.

The territory affected by the new treaty is the northeast corner of the latter country. The provisions for rail connections would assure Bolivia of a shorter rail and water route to the Atlantic than is afforded by present facilities.
